CURLEY FILES PARDON PLEA

Curley Goes to Prison—Weary, embittered and ailing, Mayor James Michael Curley walks through Bridgeport, Ct., railroad station, flanked by local and federal officers, on the last leg of his trip from a U. S. District courtroom in Washington, D. C., to Danbury Federal Correctional Institution where he will serve from six to 18 months' sentence for mail fraud.

Leahy Files Curley Plea For Pardon

By FRANK K. REILLY and CASPER T. DORFMAN

Counsel for Mayor Curley today petitioned the Department of Justice to recommend commutation of his 6-to-18-month sentence to the hours he has now served in the federal prison at Danbury, Ct.

The document was submitted in Washington by Atty. William E. Leahy, in company with a citizens' petition for clemency which was signed by 105,000 residents of Greater Boston, and a portfolio of letters from hundreds of industrial, fraternal and religious leaders who asked that Curley be saved from prison because of his age and infirmity.

Curley signed the commutation petition only a few minutes after he was ordered to prison yesterday afternoon. Leahy took it today to Daniel Lyons, Justice Department pardons attorney, a former Bostonian and once an assistant district attorney of Suffolk County.

Curley submitted, in part:

"Now I am in my 73d year and suffering ailments I know must ultimately be fatal to one of my advanced years. The sentence of incarceration, I feel, amounts in reasonable forecast to one of probable death and I bespeak clemency against the service of such a sentence, which is beyond the intent of Congress, as expressed by it, for punishment of my offence."

With regard to James G. Fuller, who was convicted with him as an executive of Engineers, Inc., Curley set forth:

"Fuller was the active agent in the perpetration of all these frauds. I was never told he had a criminal record and I was told that outstanding business men would be on the board of directors. I believed the group to be engaged in a bona fide business venture organized principally to obtain and produce aluminum for defense purposes and to relieve housing shortages.

"I never received any cash from the operation of this group nor profited by it in any way. I protest my absolute and positive innocence of any violation of any law of the United States."

When Curley's counsel asked Judge James M. Proctor in Washington yesterday that the mayor be given a little time to put the affairs of his office in order, the jurist said, "He can take that up with his keepers."

Acting Warden K. E. Thieman ruled that out today, explaining he had no leeway in the matter. He said: "Our regulations prohibit anyone from carrying on any business in this institution."

At the White House, attaches revealed letters asking clemency for the ailing mayor are being received from many states.

His daughter, Mary Curley Donnelly, today spearheaded another move to free the mayor. She met for nearly an hour with Democratic leaders in Washington before boarding a plane for Boston at noon.

"I do not feel free to name them," she said, "but I can tell our Boston friends I have their promise of full co-operation. They agree with me it is tragic that a

2 Coatless Bandits Grab $2954 Payroll

Two shirt sleeve bandits today grabbed a $2954.47 payroll from Thomas J. Walsh, 72, outside the office of the Walsh Construction Co. at the site of the new Fr. Matignon High School on Guyette rd., North Cambridge.

Walsh told police he was taking the weekly payroll from the company's main office on Hampshire st. and had just stopped his car when he felt what he thought was a gun sticking in his ribs.

A voice, he said, snarled: "We want that."

A second man opened the door of the car and took a paper bag containing the money, which had been half concealed under Walsh's coat, lying on the seat beside him.

At that moment, Walsh said, a new, bright blue sedan drove up, and the two men leaped in and sped away toward Massachusetts ave.

The victim gave police the registration number of the car, which had been stolen earlier from Massachusetts ave. and Sherman st.

The only description Walsh could give police was that both men were coatless. He said he did not see the driver of the getaway car.

H. H. Richardson, 50, of Lansing ave., Lynn, a timekeeper, and Ralph McKenzie, 15, of Ware st., Somerville, witnessed the holdup from the construction office. Richardson said the men appeared to be about 25 years old, and one was of dark complexion and the other light.

State Dept. Fires 10 as Disloyal

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The State Department announced today that "at least 10" of its employes have been fired recently because of suspected disloyalty to the United States government.

Ex-State Dept. Man Jailed in Test Evasion

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) Carl A. Marzani, 35, Italian-born former State Department sub-official, was sentenced today to one to three years in prison for hiding Communist party affiliations in a federal loyalty test.

Marzani, a resident of Arlington, Va., was convicted May 22 on all 11 counts of an indictment.

Firm Taxed Too Much, Boss Gives Up Pay

MILWAUKEE, June 27 (AP)—E. B. Tilton, president of the Vilter Manufacturing Co., declared today "due to excessive and confiscatory individual income taxes" he would accept no compensation for his services to the firm for the last two months of the calendar year.

Tilton made public a letter to the company's board of directors stating, "Additional compensation is no incentive when a large portion of it must be turned over to governmental agencies where most of it will be wasted."

Hynes Takes Over As Interim Mayor

John B. Hynes, Boston's city clerk, who was named as Boston's acting mayor in record-breaking action by the Legislature, arrived at City Hall at 9:15 a. m. today to take over interim duties as the city's chief executive until Mayor Curley returns.

Immediately after his arrival, Hynes, whose official title has been designated as "Temporary Mayor," conferred with Asst. Corp. Counsel George D. Leary. Later he conferred with various city department heads and announced there would be no departmental changes.

In an official statement later in the day, Hynes said:

"At the present time I contemplate no immediate or radical changes in policy or official personnel. As I view it, my authorization as temporary mayor charges me with the duty of keeping the wheels of city government moving in the right direction with as little friction and as much efficiency as possible.

"I will meet each situation as it arises and endeavor to dispose of it to the best interests of the city."

He said he would call a meeting of city department heads next week.

As his first official act of the day he signed a number of papers —loan orders for a total of $4,420,000 submitted to the City Council by Mayor Curley and approved June 25.

These included $1,000,000 for sewers, $2,000,000 for streets and $1,420,000 for departmental equipment.

Hynes was designated acting mayor by a bill, whipped through the Legislature in 90 minutes, which by-passed City Council President John B. Kelly, assured Hynes of $20,000 yearly as long as he holds the office and gave him life tenure as City Clerk, to which post he will return when Mayor Curley resumes office.

Mayor Curley still will receive his $20,000 a year pay while in jail, and can return to his duties at City Hall just as soon as he is released from federal prison at Danbury, Ct. If President Truman declines to intervene and Curley has to serve his sentence it is reported that under parole conditions he can be released in just four months.

Gov. Bradford made it plain in his message that he had no intention of cutting off Mayor Curleys' pay check, even though several Republican members of the legislature had suggested action which would remove him from office.

Democrats in the legislature sought unsuccessfully to block the bill, declaring that Council President Kelly, who normally should become acting mayor, was being discriminated against. They argued that Curley, a man found guilty of mail fraud and sent to jail, was holding onto his office, while Kelly, tried and absolved on bribe charges, was being sidetracked.

CIO, Ford Agree on Pension Plan

DETROIT, June 27 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. and the CIO Automobile Workers' Union reached an agreement today providing for a wage increase of seven cents an hour and a pension plan instead of paid holidays for some 110,000 production workers.

Richard T. Leonard, head of the UAW-CIO Ford division, said the pension plan would cost the company $200,000,000 a year. It is the first old age retirement plan to be implemented in the automotive industry.

Leonard said the direct wage increase plus the benefits of the pension plan will make the increase "over 15 cents an hour" to the workers.

When the negotiations began several weeks ago the management offered the industry pattern increase of 11½ cents an hour more in wages plus 3½ cents an hour to be used to provide for six paid holidays.

This was the program accepted by the union from General Motors and Chrysler Corp. The union, however, refused this and demanded inclusion of a pension plan in the contract.

When the contract is finally signed it will run for a minimum of two years.

Pigeons Eating His Roof Away

Michael Kearney of Miles st., Roxbury, figures that he has been getting the bird long enough.

Today he applied at the Roxbury Crossing Station for permission to shoot pigeons, which he claimed are eating away the roof of his dwelling. Apparently something in the composition of the roofing has proven unusually savory.

Kearney said the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals could only offer him consolation.

So Capt. Francis W. Russell indicated he would give Kearney permission to blaze away with some birdshot at the invaders.

Cote Death Weapon Was Yule Tree Base

By ALAN FRAZER

PLYMOUTH, June 27—Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Wheatley said today that Mrs. Bertha Cote, after pleading guilty to manslaughter in open court, privately named the weapon with which she killed her husband, Rene. Wheatley, who conducted the prosecution of the 28-year-old widow, told the American:

"I will say that, after her plea of guilty, the defendant said that what she used as a weapon was a small piece of marble which supported the Christmas tree.

"I will say that she said she struck her husband with the marble piece after he knocked her down in a quarrel over the dancer."

From police who worked on the case, it was learned that the prosecution considers Mrs. Cote's story of the fight "highly controversial."

Mrs. Cote today is undergoing medical examinations at Sherborn Reformatory for Women to which she was sentenced for from three and a half to six years by Judge Felix Forte.

With a good record she will be eligible for parole in two years and four months.

Her statements about the marble piece, it was disclosed, were made during a recess of court, ordered because she broke down, crying and sobbing aloud, at Atty. Eben G. Townes' mention of her "beautiful baby" in his appeal for a lenient sentence.

Her story was as follows:

Rene had spent most of the Christmas holidays with Barbara Belmore, the acrobatic dancer.

The husband and wife quarreled over this early on the morning of Dec. 28 in the living-room where Rene slept on the divan.

This quarrel followed a conversation which took place as Mrs. Cote sat on the edge of the divan and tried to win her husband back to her arms.

Words led to blows. Rene struck her on the breast, knocked her off her balance.

She stepped against a hassock and went down on the floor, grabbing the Christmas tree and toppling it over.

Fearful he would beat her some more, she tore the marble support off the base of the tree, got up and struck him twice on the head.

She said she did not mean to kill him, and she ascribed his death to the fact, as testified to by Medical Examiner Pierce H. Leavitt, that Cote had an unusually brittle skull.

She washed the blood off the piece of marble, cleaned her hands and then made tracks in the snow outside the house, wearing her husband's rubbers, to deceive police into thinking a stranger had visited the apartment and killed her husband in a business row.

She was consumed with fear and anger during the fracas and remembered nothing about seizing her husband by the throat and breaking his hyoid bone, she said.

State Police Inspector Detective John N. Sullivan pointed out that had Mrs. Cote told such a story originally and substantiated it, she would have been charged with manslaughter—not murder—or possibly might have been able to exonerate herself on grounds of self-defense.

Unintentional killing is, at worst, manslaughter

The State's theory was that Mrs. Cote struck her husband while he was asleep on the divan.

Barbara Ann Cote Revealed As Biggest Loser in Tragedy

By ALAN FRAZER

PLYMOUTH, June 27—I think this story ought to be told.

Bertha Cote's light sentence—justified in this case—may not prove a deterrent to other outraged, mistreated wives. Rene Cote's violent death may not deter other ruthless, philandering husbands.

But the effect on Rene and Bertha Cote's unfortunate child might prove a deterrent to many a reckless husband or wife.

On Christmas Eve, Barbara Ann Cote's father went out with a professional dancer. On Christmas morning he was too tired to get up and see Barbara Ann, 4, receive her doll carriage, table and toy tea set from Santa Claus.

Three mornings later, Barbara Ann's mother took the law into her own hands and dispatched Rene Cote to his eternal reward.

After six months, lacking one day, Mrs. Cote is completing the first 24 hours of a sentence of three and one-half to six years for manslaughter.

Everybody officially connected with the trial derived some satisfaction from the outcome.

Bertha Cote got her light sentence, and was almost hysterical with joy as she started for the reformatory.

Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing and Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Wheatley got their conviction.

Defense Attys. Eben G. Townes and Edward Stevens got a very satisfactory result.

The police got their solution of the crime.

The jury got home earlier than expected.

The newsmen and women got their sensation.

But Barbara Ann Cote, who had lost her father, did not get her mother back. Some day she will. But that will not be until October, 1949, when she is seven years old. Allowing time off for good behavior, Mrs. Cote must serve 28 months.

Not a person connected with the case but realized the little girl was the tragic victim.

Judge Felix Forte realized it. He said:

"I am not unmindful of one who is to suffer most. That's the child. When this defendant will have served her sentence, she will have paid her debt to society.

"But that child will grow up, and go to school, and other girls will say things to her, like 'your mother killed your father.' That is one of the unfortunate circumstances in this case."

Atty. Townes realized it. He said:

"I suppose that all of us who are members of the bar put more people back together than we ever sought to divorce. And particularly is that true when there is a little baby, and in this case is one of the most beautiful children I have ever seen. I would like to take that child with me, beautiful child."

Bertha Cote realized it.

She burst into uncontrollable sobbing and crying when Townes

MacArthur Sees Jap Peace Treaty Within 18 Months

By BARRY FARIS

TOKYO, June 27 (INS) — Gen. MacArthur believes there is no valid reason why a peace treaty with Japan cannot be concluded in one year, or at the most a year and half from now.

Entertaining 20 editors and publishers on a Pan American round-the-world flight at a luncheon in the United States embassy, Gen. MacArthur electrified his guests by frankly answering questions and giving a complete picture of the situation in Japan.

Asked when he expects the Japanese treaty to be written, he answered:

"In a year, or at most a year and a half. Of course, you understand this is purely my guess. I have not discussed it with the State Department and I don't know what the government thinks or plans."

One of the editors asked if squabbling over reparations might delay a Japanese peace parley.

"That matter is virtually settled already," MacArthur replied. He explained all of Japan's wealth had been channeled into 12 to 15 families who had poured it into Japan's colonial possessions. Practically all of this has been recovered and now constitutes reparations.

In Japan itself, he doubted if more than 600 million dollars could be recovered.

MacArthur declared that when the Japanese peace is signed the U. S. Army should be recalled, but that there should still be supervision by the Allies.

The general said the treaty must not be written to make slaves of the Japanese.

"Give the underdog a chance. Make it possible for him to live as a free man," he said, adding, the way is open for America to establish a new future in Asia.

"As Japan goes so goes Asia, and properly treated the Japanese will lead Asia into the right way—the American way," MacArthur said.

Parolee Held In Attack on Salem Girl

Salem police today arrested a 20-year-old reformatory parolee, whom they said had been identified through fingerprints, on a charge of assault with intent to rape Mary K. Olney, 21, a former WAVE, who was seized from her escort and viciously beaten yesterday.

Richard Z. Wysocki of Essex st., Salem, pleaded not guilty in Salem District Court and was held in $26,000 bail for a hearing next week. The youth also entered not guilty pleas to charges of assault with intent to rob the girl and unlawful use of an automobile.

Wysocki was arrested without a struggle by five police officers assigned to watch his home. Police said the youth, single and a mechanic, also had been identified by a 15-year-old Salem girl as the man who attacked her in Manchester a month ago.

Meanwhile, in Salem Hospital, Miss Olney's condition remained serious. The name of the pretty brunette was taken off the danger list, although X-rays disclosed she suffered a fractured skull, broken right arm and shoulder.

Police said that, except for murder cases, it was the most violent attack they had ever investigated.

Prints were found on an auto in which the assailant drove up to where Miss Olney sat with Karl Kirchner, 21, of New York City, a GI student at M. I. T. and a roomer in Beacon st., Back Bay, in Kirchner's car parked in Forest River park, South Salem.

CIO's Chieftains Debate Stand on New Labor Curbs

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Leaders of 6,000,000 CIO members, cautioned by Pres. Truman along with all labor and management to live up to the new Taft-Hartley law, gathered today to draft a program of contest or compliance.

CIO President Philip Murray convened his 51-member executive board to hear a size-up of the new statute as compiled by the labor organization's entire legal staff. Attorneys for each of the 49 CIO unions met here yesterday with general counsel Lee Pressman.

Both the AFL and the CIO have rejected the idea of general protest strikes, although AFL President William Green told reporters yesterday that unions throughout the nation were urging him to call one to last "until the act is repealed."

New Layoffs Threaten As Coal Piles Dwindle

By the Associated Press

New layoffs in key industries were threatened today in the wake of this week's work stoppages in the nation's soft coal mines which have idled more than 250,000 workers.

Coal stockpiles have dwindled since mines closed and with all mines to close for a 10-day vacation starting tomorrow, there was no hope of making up the shortage.

Steel mills have curtailed operations and there were layoffs of some railroad crews. In Detroit, Chrysler Corp. and the Briggs Manufacturing Co. planned to lay off 28,0000 workers because of a shortage of steel.

Officials of the CIO Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union predicted a tieup of all Atlantic and Gulf shipyards next week, idling 120,000. More than 40,000 members of the union struck yesterday against 10 East coast shipyards, nine of them operated by Bethlehem Steel Co.

In St. Louis an agreement settling the two weeks old strike which has paralyzed public transportation was signed and 3500 striking bus aand streetcar operators reported for work today.

Of the 250,000 already idle in 11 states, Pennsylvania led the list with 64,200, followed by West Virginia, 56,000; Illinois, 40,000; Kentucky, 35,000; Alabama, 20,000; Virginia, 11,000; Ohio, 10,933; Indiana, 7101; Tennessee, 5000; Utah, 2000, and Colorado, 1000.

Boston Ship Workers Expect Long Strike

Striking shipyard workers prepared for a long strike today while officials of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co. pleaded with them to reconsider, declaring the walkout of 40,000 men will cripple the industry in America.

Strikers were adamant, however, and union leaders promise to open union-operated stores where food and other supplies may be bought at cost.

Mass picketing began at the struck plants at Fore River and East Boston.

Chandler Jury Asks Court to Speed Up Trial

Douglas Chandler is guilty of the worst crime in the catalogue of crimes, Special Assistant U. S. Atty. Oscar R. Ewing today told a 14-man Federal Court jury summing up the government's case against the expatriate American newsman. "This man hired himself out to the enemy," Ewing shouted to the jury, followed the Nazi party line and even betraying his best friend to the Gestapo.

Attys. Edward C. Park and Claude B. Cross summed up for the defense as the jury sent a note to Judge Francis J. W. Ford asking if it were possible the case be given to them before the close of court today.

Ewing agreed Chandler had the right of free speech, the right to criticize the Jewish people and the right to criticize the war-effort.

"But," the proscutor continued, "he didn't have the right to go and join the enemy and aid against the United States—trying to defeat his own country when it was engaged in a death struggle."

Ewing told the jury Chandler's paranoia developed only after he arrived in Boston and had been subjected to psychiatric examination. Previous to that time, Ewing said, h had no fanatical "insane" persecution complex.

Atty Parks, associate defense counsel told the jury that overt acts of treason charged by the government were "trivial" offenses."

Speaking of the alleged derogatory remarks about the President, Park said.

"You have all heard such remarks, probably worse—some of which couldn't be played on recordings in this court.

The defense attorney admitted: "All who heard Chandler's voice on the recordings played here were profoundly shocked. Even two years after the war we were all horrified."

But, he again cautioned, you can't convict a man of treason because you don't like what he has said.

Three-Power Ministers Meet To Argue European Economy

PARIS, June 27 (AP)—Foreign ministers of Russia, Great Britain and France started consideration today of a European economic recovery program linked with American aid. There was no official indication of the Russian attitude toward the Marshall plan but the British and French have welcomed the proposal of Sec. Marshall.

Authoritative U. S. and British sources in London said the United States and Britain had reached the broad conclusion that the aid program should be operated outside the United Nations framework.

The conferees were V. M. Molotov of Russia, Ernest Bevin of Britain and Georges Bidault of France. They met privately.

Bevin arrived just before Molotov. Bevin was accompanied by Alfred Duff Cooper, British ambassador to Paris; Edmund Hall-Patch, economic advisor to the foreign office; and a private secretary.

Russian Ambassador Alexander Bogomolov and two carloads of advisers arrived with Molotov.

Louise Overell's Diary Bares Thoughts of Gollum

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 27 (INS)—The uncertainties and torments of a young girl falling in love are revealed by portions of the diary of Beulah Louise Overell, on trial with her sweetheart, George "Bud" Gollum, on charges of murdering her parents.

The portions of the diary, both before and after her meeting with Gollum, were released by her attorneys.

The first entry in the diary, as given out by the attorneys, was dated "Summer, 1945." Other entries were undated.

A part of the diary reads:

"Your grandparents thought it would be nice if my cousin and I would write letters to you way off in the Pacific. I was told of your grandparents' wishes, and I was commanded by mother to write. I delayed for I did not care much for the idea. But one Sunday I was trapped and I was forced to commence correspondence.

When Gollum reached Pearl Harbor he wired Miss Overell.

"After I received the telegram around 9 in the morning, I went to drill and I felt so superior to the other kids. Sometime later I had been reading a Christmas poem and after I had typed it, I thought how maybe next Christmas I would read it at the dinner table and you would be there to her it, too."

Another entry, undated:

"I would pretend that you and I were down on the beach with a few other couples and in my imagination we had a lot of fun doing things together.

"One night we walked on the beach after dark and it was so beautiful that I could not talk. And while Cousin Louise and I stood on the rocks, listening to the waves coming in, I made believe that it was you and I down there for the evening, and we were sitting against the cliff, watching the waves and necking. It was such a wonderful dream and coupled with the environment made me nearly cry."

Another entry:

"Mother . . . informed me that you had reached San Diego. I was delighted but I could not understand why you had not called me. I was awfully unhappy and for the first time reread all your letters. I thought up lots of reasons why you had not called me, but nevertheless I was still miserable.

"I was heart-broken from loneliness. On Sunday I dressed with the object in mind that you might appear.

"Your grandmother called me and asked if I would like a visitor. I knew who that would be and said: 'Yes, of course.'

"The next five minutes I spent before a mirror and when the doorbell rang, I was paralyzed.

"Our meeting would mean so much to me. Maybe for the first time in my life I would find someone who would care for me. Maybe for the first time, also, I would go 'steady.'

"I opened the door and there you were. I was so pleased with what you looked like. You had such a kind face. You were not the type that I consider my ideal, that is true, but this terribly kind face of yours immediately dispelled my idealistic image.

"You looked beautiful, darling, just wonderful.

"After you left, a reaction set in, and I trembled very visibly; I spoke in a high voice and I made a nervous wreck of myself. You were so wonderful; I was thrilled with your voice. It was beautiful. That evening I spent an extra long time getting myself ready for bed. I had received permission from mother for our Monday date; I thanked God for this Sunday and I went to sleep all excited.

"Just think, my first real date, and you were so wonderful, and perhaps I have fallen in love with you."

The heiress relates how she was plunged into despair by Gollum's failure to call her for that cherished first date.

"I stood in my room and for the millionth time in my life I wondered what on earth was the matter with me. I stood there and asked God why he had done such a thing to me. I knew that too many things like that would kill me and I knew also that I was fated for such things.

"Oh, darling, I was heartbroken. I was utterly desolate.

"I had thought of calling you up, but luckily good sense kept me from doing that. You called at 6:30, and you offered regrets, saying that you broke the date because of lack of transportation. We talked for about 10 minutes, and you and your so beautiful voice and corect manner asked if you might have the pleasure of my company in the near future.

"But when you had hung up, saying that your mother was waving at a male in your face and threatening to cut your throat, I began to distrust you.

"I have said that I would trust a person I love to all extremes, but I did not know whether you even liked me or whether I liked you or the idea. I thought to myself that your excuse 'lack of transporation' was a very feeble one, and why did it take you until 6:30 p. m., to think of such a bad one.

"I finished my dinner in melancholy and went upstairs to study. At 8:30 I started for bed. I could not just sit because I thought of you. That caused too much pain.

Bove Guilty as Tax Evader, Given 5 Years

NEW YORK, June 27 (INS)—James Bove, former AFL union official, pleaded guilty in federal court today to two indictments charging evasion of payment of $85,000 in income taxes for 1939-41.

He was fined $30,000 and ordered imprisoned for five years.

Overells Slain Before Blast, Experts Say

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 27 (INS)—Jurors in the Overell murder trial today carried into their week-end recess medical testimony that financier Walter E. Overell and his wife were beaten to death before their yacht was dynamited last March 15.

Two physicians testified the husband and wife for whose murders their daugnter, Beulah Louise, 18, and her boy friend, George R. Gollum, 21, are on trial, died of multiple fractures of the skull before the power cruiser Mary E. was sunk with an improvised time bomb in Newport bay.

The witnesses were Dr. Lawrence Mathes, Orange County autopsy surgeon, and Dr. John Montanus, former Orange County autopsy surgeon.

Special prosecutor Eugene D. Williams, who took part in the Tokyo war crime trials, hammered hard at establishing one of the prime points of his case—that the boat was not sunk until after the Overells were dead.

Also that the injuries on their bodies as a result of the explosion were not the injuries that killed them.

After stating he had performed autopsies on the dead pair, Dr. Montanus stated:

"I believe they were dead at the time of the blast."

As he talked a guresome picture showing Mrs. Overell's head wounds was introduced in evidence.

Miss Overell gasped upon seeing it.

The presecution scored a point when Dr. Mathes testified the bones in Mrs. Overell's hands and fingers were broken.

The State contends she received these fractures in trying to ward off the blows that killed her.

As the autopsy findings were outlined Gollum listened with rapt interest. He is a pre-medical student.

BROCKTON, June 27—The estranged wife of Louis B. Conley, 26, complained to police today that her ex-husband broke into her home, beat her and her mother with pliers and brass knuckles, then snatched his 2-year-old daughter from her crib.

Mrs. Conley said he fled with the child in a black sedan driven by another man.

Today police of half a dozen states were searching for the fugitive, while local officials sought warrants in district court charging assault with intent to kill and kidnaping.

Louis B. Conley

It was believed possible that Conley was heading for his native city of Amarillo, Tex., where he has been living since his wife obtained a legal separation Feb. 12 last, with custody of the baby.

The wife, Mrs. Lucille A. Conley, 24, since the separation from her husband has been living with her mother, Mrs. Bertha R. Lacroix of Perkins pl., off Court st., this city. Both women were under care of a physician today for head injuries inflicted during the kidnaping of the baby, Lynette.

Mrs. Lacroix said Conley, after cutting through a rear screen door, entered the kitchen and confronted her with the wire-cutting pliers and brass knuckles.

"What do you want here?" Mrs. Lacroix told police she demanded of Conley.

She said he replied, "I'll show you what I want,' and then staggered her with a blow with the brass knuckles.

As she screamed, he struck her several times over the head with the pliers and she fell to the floor semi-conscious.

Conley's wife, tending the baby in a bedroom off the kitchen, ran in on hearing her mother's cries, and was similarly attacked by the husband with the pliers and brass knuckles.

When he rushed into the bedroom and snatched the child from the crib, Mrs. Conley said she struggled with him, but gave up when she thought the baby had been hurt in the scuffle.

Police learned that the Conleys were married in 1943 at Camp Myles Standish, where Conley was a T-sergeant in the Army photographic corps.

With his wife he went to Amarillo.

Shortly afterward, they quarreled and Mrs. Conley returned to her Brockton home.

Trio Sentenced In Medford Break

Three Revere men were sentenced by Judge Frank J. Murray in Middlesex Superior court today after conviction of housebreaking and larceny. A 25-year-old Lynn girl, charged with receiving stolen property, was placed on probation for three years.

Florentino DeSimone, 37, of Newman st., was sentenced to four and a half to seven years in State Prison; Royal N. Reed, Jr., of James rd., received a two and a half to five year term, and Chester A. McFarland, 21, of Dolphin ave., was sent to Concord Reformatory for an indeterminate sentence.

Miss Jennie Bizdaris, 25, of Friend st., Lynn, was freed on probation after being found guilty of receiving stolen goods.

The three men were arrested in a Peabody overnight cabin after a burglary in the home of Ralph Albert, Winthrop st., Medford.

In a graphic demonstration of the reserve's efficiency, Helldivers, Corsairs, Hellcats and Avengers will soar over Boston, New York, Providence and Hartford in a flight from Squantum to Floyd Bennett Field, New York. The flight over Boston will be sometime after 2 p. m.

Com. T. W. McKnight, USNR, of Beverly, will lead the flight. He heads the Reserve training program at Squantum which started out a year ago with 61 planes, 32 enlisted men and 137 officers. The program now encompasses 13 ssuadrons and three air groups manned by 556 men, 331 officers and 135 Navy planes.

'Hothouse' Home Wins Florist Wife Divorce

Their Woburn home became a hothouse of strife when her husband, Thomas W. Dobbins, a $12,000-a-year wholesale florist, started beating her last March, Mrs. Paula Dobbins testified in Middlesex probate court today.

She was granted a divorce and $125 a week for support of three children by Judge George M. Poland. Mrs. Dobbins charged cruelty. They were married in New Hampshire in Nov. 1936.

Bugsy Buried In Secret as Probe Widens

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 27 (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Fred Howser of California added his investigative forces today to the search for an answer to the question of who killed former Public Enemy Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, and why, as the prosecutor ordered investigation of Siegel's connections with wartime black market liquor operations.

Beverly Hills and Los Angeles County authorities, meantime, are delving into a maze of Siegel's alleged connections with narcotics, bookmaking wire service, stolen jewelry and women.

Police Chief Anderson cabled Paris authorities, asking them to obtain an official statement from Virginia Hill, thrice-wed Alabama heiress in whose leased home here Siegel was shot to death.

Siegel, New York and Hollywood playboy, Las Vegas, Nev., gambling club operator and big-time underworld figure, was buried almost secretly yesterday in a $5000 silver-plated casket after a five-minute funeral with only six persons present.

In Chicago Joseph Bell, federal narcotics agent, said he believed Siegel had ordered the slaying in San Francisco of Nick De John and Tom Bufa, narcotics ring figures, on the supposition they had talked to federal agents.

Cote

The defense, at her trial, contended Cote had been in a fight, but the defense took great pains to prove that this fight was not with his wife.

Atty. Eben G. Townes repeatedly brought out that his client had no visible marks or bruises that morning.

Nothing was said about marks on her breast where, she said in her story after her plea, that her husband had hit her. Such marks, if left by blows from her husband's fist, would have constituted reasonable support for a claim of self-defense.

Mrs. Cote pleaded guilty to unintentional killing. Subsequent to her out-of-the-courtroom relation of the circumstances, she was sentenced.

In his extended remarks, in the presence of the jury, before passing sentence, Judge Forte said:

"From the evidence which you heard, I venture the opinion that there is inescapable evidence that some combat took place—that Rene Cote was not deprived of his life instantly in the quiet of sleep.

"There was evidence from the marks on his body that he had been in, may I say, a fight.

"He wasn't found on the divan. Doctors testified that if he was hit there, either one of the two impacts on the skull would have been sufficient to have knocked him unconscious.

"The body was not found there.

"It is now undisputed by all parties that no third person was there. The only one that had a hand in this killing was the defendant.

"The conclusion is inescapable that the defendant did not have the strength to move an unconscious body from the divan to the spot where the body was found.

"In other words, this wasn't a cool, calculated, planned murder. The Christmas tree fell and the hassock was turned over.

"If a person had planned to kill Rene Cote, that person probably would have used a weapon that would have caused death instantly, such as a knife, and in that event there would have been no marks on the hands, no cuts on the lips, no teeth knocked out, no marks on the neck, and no signs of strangulation, not to mention the blows that caused death, on the left side of the skull and the top of the head.

"To find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree, you would have to be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that she meditated for some time—thought it out—then decided to take the life of her husband.

"If not convinced of that beyond a reasonable doubt, then the next question would be, was she guilty of murder in the second degree?

"Murder in the second degree requires an intent to kill, an intent to kill before committing the act, before assaulting her husband.

"To justify yourselves in finding her guilty of murder in the second degree, you would have to find that before she struck her husband, she made up her mind to kill him.

"The difference between first and second degree murder is premeditation, deliberation, before the acts are committed.

"I venture the opinion that you would not be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that when this defendant attacked her husband the attack was made with intent to kill.

"That reduces the killing to without intent to kill—in the heat of passion or under control of anger.

"That is manslaughter. And this defendant has pleaded guilty to that.

"For some time, perhaps, there was in your minds, as well as mine, as we followed the evidence, that perhaps there was some other person than the defendant in this case who committed the killing.

"Of course, she had said she had nothing to do with it, that she had awakened from sleep after commission of the deed, in which case she couldn't be guilty as it would not have been her act.

"There was a conference at the bench yesterday, when that very question was discussed. She would have been guilty if she did it herself as a principal in the first degree, so to speak. You would have had to consider also that if the killing was committed by a hypothetical third person, if, when the act was committed by the principal, she was present, knew what was going on, aided and abetted the principal, she would have been equally guilty as the principal.

"These things are not important at this time, because of her plea."

From these remarks of the trial judge, it seemed to some of those in the courtroom that the defendant had an excellent chance of being found guilty of nothing worse than manslaughter, although there was no knowing on the part of the defense what interpretation the jury would place on the evidence.

But the fact remained that the defense decided on a plea of guilty to manslaughter, in part because the jury might conclude Mrs. Cote aided and abetted another killer, but more particularly because of revelation by Police Lt. D. Edward Sullivan of Brockton of damaging statements made by the widow.

And because in order to contradict Lt. Sullivan it would have been necessary to put Mrs. Cote on the witness stand to give one more version of events in addition to several she had previously given police.

Atty. Townes who had no prior knoweledge of the damaging statements, had no intention of putting the defendant on, under oath, to tell anything but the truth, and so he placed the circumstances before Mrs. Cote at Plymouth county jail Wednesday night, and let her make her own decision to plead guilty to manslaughter.

In the courtroom, before she pleaded guilty, Mrs. Cote called Atty. Townes to her side and asked him:

"Can they make me go on the stand now."

"No," said Townes.

Half an hour later, she told her story of the fracas with her husband, but not on the witness stand under oath.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Wheatley asked for a sentence of 12 to 20 years.

There had been no "agreement" made by the State regarding sentence.

Nobody except Judge Forte knew what it would be, and Mrs. Cote was pleasurably surprised.

Her relief was perfectly apparent, and the tears that welled to her eyes a little later, as she was herded from the courtroom for the last time by matron Mrs. Abbie L. Woodward, were tears of relief and joy.

I talked with her afterward in an ante-room and know she was elated.

She said she was "delighted." She was trying to sip tea from a large crockery mug but was so excited she could not do it.

Incidentally, Townes and Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing, Wheatley's chief, expect to attend the 20th anniversary of their class of 1917 of Boston University Law School at Swampscott tomorrow.

Dewing did not remain on the scene after the dramatic trial reached its spectacular conclusion. Wheatley remained a while, left and returned, and although congratulated, appeared serious, thoughtful and unhappy.

No piece of marble was introduced as an exhibit in the case, although the Christmas tree support mentioned by Mrs. Cote after the trial was over is said to have been among the kitchen utensils and furnishings from the Cote's Brockton apartment that were found in a Brookfield barn owned by a friend of Mrs. Cote's family.

A hammer and a rolling-pin were introduced as exhibits.

It will be recalled that the defendant laughed aloud when the rolling-pin was produced by Inspector Sullivan from under his jacket. She craned her neck to get a better look at it. It obviously was not the death weapon, judging from her reaction.

It also will be recalled that Mrs. Cote in mid-January told Lt. Sullivan of the Brockton police, whose testimony broke the case, that "you have the weapon." At that time the police had the hammer but had not recovered the Cote kitchen utensils and furnishings at Brookfield.

In the courtroom, before she pleaded guilty, Mrs. Cote called Atty. Townes to her side and asked him:

"Can they make me go on the stand now."

"No," said Townes.

Half an hour later, she told her story of the fracas with her husband, but not on the witness stand under oath.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Wheatley asked for a sentence of 12 to 20 years.

There had been no "agreement" made by the State regarding sentence.

Nobody except Judge Forte knew what it would be, and Mrs. Cote was pleasurably surprised.

Her relief was perfectly apparent, and the tears that welled to her eyes a little later, as she was herded from the courtroom for the last time by matron Mrs. Abbie L. Woodward, were tears of relief and joy.

I talked with her afterward in an ante-room and know she was elated.

She said she was "delighted." She was trying to sip tea from a large crockery mug but was so excited she could not do it.

Incidentally, Townes and Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing, Wheatley's chief, expect to attend the 20th anniversary of their class of 1917 of Boston University Law School at Swampscott tomorrow.

Dewing did not remain on the scene after the dramatic trial reached its spectacular conclusion. Wheatley remained a while, left and returned, and although congratulated, appeared serious, thoughtful and unhappy.

No piece of marble was introduced as an exhibit in the case, although the Christmas tree support mentioned by Mrs. Cote after the trial was over is said to have been among the kitchen utensils and furnishings from the Cote's Brockton apartment that were found in a Brookfield barn owned by a friend of Mrs. Cote's family.

A hammer and a rolling-pin were introduced as exhibits.

It will be recalled that the defendant laughed aloud when the rolling-pin was produced by Inspector Sullivan from under his jacket. She craned her neck to get a better look at it. It obviously was not the death weapon, judging from her reaction.

It also will be recalled that Mrs. Cote in mid-January told Lt. Sullivan of the Brockton police, whose testimony broke the case, that "you have the weapon." At that time the police had the hammer but had not recovered the Cote kitchen utensils and furnishings at Brookfield.

NEW RIOTS IN INDIA

BOMBAY, June 27 (AP)—Approximately 20 persons were injured in Bombay today—some by police fire—as rioting renewed during a one-day strike of 25,000 railway workers which paralyzed north and southbound rail traffic for four hours.

Hub Milk Prices Jump Tuesday

Greater Boston housewives will pay an increase of two cents per quart of milk next Tuesday, bringing the price up to 20 cents a quart.

Announcement of the price boost by the State Milk Control Board came on the heels of a change from a six to a five-day work week for AFL union milk drivers, approved by the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration.

Another factor which led to the increase was the recent award by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture of an increase to be paid producers, which alone would have resulted in a 1-cent boost to consumers in the Boston metropolitan area.

2 Ex-GIs Scale Buckingham Palace Walls, Park for Night

LONDON, June 27 (AP)—It seems there were a couple of ex-GI's looking for a place to sleep last night, and they walked past a big gray building, and—

"Buckingham Palace," murmured John L. Jensen, 21, of North Bend, Ore.

"Why not?" answered Wallace McCall, 22, of Portland, Ore.

Buckingham Palace is protected by an eight-and-a-half-foot wall.

"It took us half an hour to get over the wall," said Jensen, a recent journalism graduate from the University of Oregon.

"And we just missed four policemen, but it was worth it when we got inside. What beautiful grounds!

"We found ourselves a quiet spot, put on our arctic sleeping bags and went to sleep. The ground was a little hard and we awakened about 2 o'clock and had a can of beans. Then we went back to sleep."

Until 8 a. m., that is. They awakened to find themselves surrounded by three gardeners, two workmen, two policemen and a detective. The detective was collarless, sleepy-eyed and astounded.

"He asked us, 'Do you know where you are?' and we said, just at random, 'St. James Park, isn't it?' And he said no, it certainly wasn't, and after that everything got a little confused," said McCall, a graduate student at Yale.

"Before the Black Maria came," said Jensen, "we had a good look around. I can't say we enjoyed the ride to Scotland Yard, although the officials were very nice to us and let us go once we convinced them there were no bombs in our sleeping bags."

Scotland Yard confirmed the bare facts of the story but kept an embarrassed silence about the details, although one official confided:

"I wouldn't have believed it possible—the palace is so well protected. It has never happened before."

Jensen and McCall, handsome six-footers, have been in England 10 days, preparatory to touring Europe on a motorcycle. "We thought we'd see something of the world before our money runs out and we have to start playing at being grown up," McCall explained.

Senora Peron Has Audience With Pope

VATICAN CITY, June 27 (AP)—Mrs. Juan D. Peron had a 20-minute audience with Pope Pius XII and made a state tour of the Apostolic Palace and St. Peter's Church today.

The wife of Argentina's President wore severe, full-length black crepe, with a length of it brought up to cover her upswept blonde hair. She had no makeup except lip rouge. Gleaming on her dress was the Star of the Order of Isabel the Catholic, which Generalissimo Francisco Franco presented to her during her 19-day visit to Spain.

Surgeon "Peels" Navy Vet's Heart

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 27 (AP)—A doctor took Johnnie Bridges' heart in his hand and "peeled it like a tough orange."

Doctors said the operation saved the Navy veteran from "certain death."

The surgery was performed at Kennedy Veterans' Hospital here. The ailment was called constrictive pericarditis. The small sac holding the heart began hardening and drawing up, restricting the organ's beats.

Dr. Felix Hughes, chief of thoracic surgery at Kennedy, said he had to lay open Bridges' chest and then hold the heart in his hand while he peeled away the leathery outer tissue, relieving the pressure.

Bridges is "doing swell."

$7000 for Army Flagpole Scored

WASHINGTON, June 27 (INS)—A House appropriations subcommittee chairman today condemned as "outrageous" War Department requests for funds for cemeteries in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska which included $7000 for a flagpole, $7500 an acre for topsoiling and fencing at $50 a foot.

Rep. Engel (R.) of Michigan, in an angry letter, notified War Secretary Patterson that "if a private group presented Congress with a claim for cemeterial costs such as these they would be accused of racketeering."

Eisler, No. 1 U. S. Red, Gets Year in Prison

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Gerhart Eisler, Communist, today drew the maximum federal court penalty of a year in prison and $1000 fine for contempt of Congress.

Federal District Court Justice Alexander Holtzoff passed the sentence after denying a motion for a new trial and a dramatic personal mercy plea from Eisler, described in Congress as the "No. 1 Soviet commissar" in this country.

Eisler saying he was a European anti-Fascist political refugee, protested he was "a victim of a witch-hunting hysteria in this country, instigated and encouraged by the unAmerican Activities Committee."

Imposing maximum sentence because Eisler during the trial "showed an attitude of defiance and no disposition to co-operate with the congressional committee," Justice Holtzoff said the defendant does not respect the institutions of this country.

Catholic Chaplain KOs Berlin Thugs

BERLIN, June 27 (AP)—A U. S. Army chaplain who boxed at Notre Dame University used his knockout punch and helped capture two young German burglars when one attempted to attack him with a sword.

"It is my first fight since becoming a priest and, though my hands hurt, I got most of the loot back," said Maj. Maurice E. Powers, senior Catholic chaplain here.

The loot, including three cameras and a diamond watch, was valued at $2000.

EL VICTIM'S BODY CLAIMED

The body of Louis Saltman, 69, of Florence ave., Revere, who was killed by a Dorchester-Cambridge rapid transit train in Scollay sq. subway last Saturday, today was claimed by his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Feinberg of Washington.

DO NOT DISTURB

DETROIT, June 27 (AP)—Recorder's Judge John P. Scallen ruled that an alligator asleep in the sun deserves protection from human hecklers.

Patrolman John Bordo told the court he saw Oscar Butler inside the alligator cage at Belle Isle Park creeping up on a drowsy 'gator.

"I'd been watching that big thing for a half-hour," Butler explained. "I didn't know whether he was dead or alive. So, I decided to stamp my feet near his ear. I wanted to see if he'd move."

The alligator moved all right, and the patrolman and a park attendant jerked Butler from the cage in the nick of time.

The court placed Butler and his companion, Charles Reed, on six months' probation on a charge of disturbing the peace.

"Don't you hear enough of that stuff all day on the radio?"

Barbara

said that. A recess had to be ordered.

And she also cried—softly this time—when Judge Forte made his remarks.

Barbara Ann Cote will not have much of a memory of her father. Luckily she will not remember that he hid her from her mother, when the mother would complain at his wrongdoing.

She will probably learn something of the circumstances of what her mother did. But she will at least have it to know that her mother stood up before 150 persons in the end and admitted her guilt and surrendered her body to the State for the penalty of her crime.

She will have it to know that witness after witness swore before the jury and the packed courtroom, and to the public through the press, that Bertha Cote loved her husband, Rene, and was a dutiful and devoted wife, and a devoted and wonderful mother.

Barbara Ann Cote did as much as anybody to save her mother a more severe sentence, for it was the love that her mother lavished on her that helped sway the judge to leniency, and might even have swayed the jury, had the case gone to its intended climax.

Christmas is a child's day, celebrating as it does the birth of the Holy Infant.

Christmas and Christmas Eve were woven with tragic significance into the pattern of the Cote story.

On Bertha Cote's first Christmas Eve with Rene, the police came for him for forgery and bigamy.

On her last Christmas Eve as his wife, he was out with Barbara Belmore, the dancer, while Bertha waited for him to take her to midnight mass.

On that Christmas Day, Rene again visited Miss Belmore, wearing the gold wrist watch his wife had given him as a Christmas gift.

Mrs. Cote stayed home, playing for herself and Barbara the victrola Cote had given to her.

Under Barbara Ann's Christmas tree, with its ornaments, tinsel and angel's hair, on the morning of Dec. 28, while new-fallen snow made a Christmas-card scene outside the house on Harvard st., Brockton, Bertha Cote widowed herself and orphaned her child by an act of reckless violence.

On two Christmases yet to come, Mrs. Cote will be a prisoner of the commonwealth.

On the third she will be back with her unfortunate child.

Navy Yard Set For Memorial To Paul Jones

Foormal ceremonies aboard the famous frigate USS Constitution will be the focal point of one of the biggest observances yet staged at the Navy Yard in Charlestown in commemoration of the 200th birthday anniversary on Sunday, July 6, of John Paul Joones, America's first naval hero.

The Constitution and many other ships ranging from those of Revolutionary days to craft completed after the late war which carry all the modern improvements and in between, the battle-scarred USS New Mexico damaged three times during the World War and which served as flagship of the force commander off Okinawo, all are prepared for a record number of visitors.

Other ships to be opened for inspection on that day include the attack transports Fremont and New Kent, the dock landing ship Colonial, designed to dock other amphibious vessels for repairs; the destroyer escort Greenwood and R. I. Paine, an the LCT's 608 and 766, which will be docked aboard the Colonial.

Most modern of the group will be the USS Providence, namesake of the Revolutionary sloop of war aboard which John Paul Jones sailed and engaged in running battle with two British frigates, captured 16 prizes and destroyed many stragetic enemy plants

During the course of the land exercises, more than 100 Navy planes will swoop across the city for the west, pass over the Navy Yard and head out to sea for a time before returning to base at Quonset, R. I.

Jailed Malden Man Given New Trial

Brought into Suffolk superior court from State Prison, Norman J. Stone, 28, of Newman rd., Malden, today held a joyful reunion with his wife and parents as he was released on bail of $2500 to await a new trial as result of a Supreme court ruling that set aside conviction on a charge of larceny.

Stone has already served 14 months of a 2½ to 3-year sentence imposed in April, 1946, by Judge Eugene Hudson. A jury found Stone guilty of larceny of $8500 from William E. Andrews, New London, Ct., radio dealer.

Defense Atty. Samuel N. Cohen asked for a stay of sentence pending appeal. Judge Hudson fixed bail at $20,000, which was prohobitive, and Stone went to Prison.

The Supreme court this week ruled that certain evidence in the case was highly prejudicial and improperly introduced.

Wins $250 Suit, Then Gets Jail

Foster W. Moody, of Pembroke st., South End, was sent to jail for a year today by Judge Dillon in superior court for "giving willfully false testimony."

Moody, a New Haven R. R. trainman, had sued his former landlady, Mrs. Susan Elliott, of Hereford st., Back Bay, seeking recovery of an alleged $200 loan and also claming she had beaten him when he asked for the money.

The jury awarded Moody $250 rent, found for the former landlady on the other allegation, declaring they did not believe Moody had been beaten and scratched. Judge Dillon thereupon adjudged him in contempt.

China to Get U. S. Ammunition

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The United States has agreed to turn over to China 130,000,000 pounds of surplus rifle ammunition for weapons of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops.

State Department officials also told reporters the Nanking government has been authorized to purchase other military supplies.

The twins kept the plane's 47 passengers aware of speed and time with frequent bulletins.

Bullitt Analyzes Soviet Aims in Sunday Advertiser

What is Soviet Russia's ultimate goal in Europe, Asia, and the rest of the world?

Are her latest moves in Hungary and the Balkans part of a long-range plan and if so, what are its objectives?

How will these objectives affect the U. S.?

In a forthright analysis of those questions, William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Moscow, draws on his firsthand experience with Soviet strategy to tell the readers of next Sunday's Advertiser what he thinks the Kremlin is really up to.

Here is a blunt, thought-provoking article by a trained American diplomat who knows the Soviet regime, and has matched wits with many of its leaders on the diplomatic battlefront.

Mr. Bullitt knows Europe as well as Russia. He was serving as ambassador to France when World War II broke out and thereafter undertook important missions for the American government as ambassador-at-large.

There is no diplomatic pulling of punches in Mr. Bullitt's article. It is a two-fisted appraisal of the present world crisis as he views it.

You'll want to read every word of it in next Sunday's Advertiser.

Plane's Passenger Dies in Maine Crash

MADISON, Me., June 27— A faulty motor was blamed today for a plane crash in which a passenger was killed and the pilot critically injured. The victim was Raymond D. Plotnick, 33, of Main st., Lewiston, a roofing salesman.

Raymond W. Ames, Jr., 30, also of Lewiston, was rushed to a Showhegan hospital for tratment of fractures of the jaw and of both ankles, and brain concussion. Witnesses said the motor failed just after the takeoff, and the plane plunged to the ground from a height of about 200 feet.

Scientists to Study 'Atomic' Bikini

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) —A 40-man science team will use Bikini lagoon this summer as a laboratory to study the long-term effects of atomic bombs on life and materials.

Announcing this today, the Navy said Bikini "is the only harbor which has been subjected to an atomic attack and is the only laboratory where defensive measures for harbors may profitably be studied."

If the theories of some geneticists are confirmed, the scientists may find the two atomic bomb blasts of last summer have caused weird forms of plant and marine life to develop.

The project is a joint Army-Navy assignment.

STATEMENT

BY BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY

SHIPBUILDING DIVISION

In connection with the strike which has been called by the Shipyard Workers Union-CIO against Bethlehem shipyards

"In a conference with the union on June 25, in an attempt to forestall the strike, the company stated that, in view of the situation in the industry, the reasonable thing to do was to extend the contract and review the entire situation at a later date.

"Following careful consideration of the union's demands, Bethlehem Steel Company had already offered the union a complete contract including maintenance of union membership, dues check-off, improved vacation plan and other benefits, and took the position that it is unable to agree to any increases in shipbuilding labor costs at this time because of the poor condition of the business and the already high wage rates.

"Shipbuilding in this country is nearing extinction. Even under present conditions it is evident that by the end of this year there will be no ships on the ways and none on order. British yards have 1,000 ships building or ordered. There is a world boom in shipbuilding in which American yards are not participating. The plight of the industry is due to high costs and these are due to high wage rates.

HAVE ALREADY ABSORBED 18 CENTS ON FIXED PRICE CONTRACTS

"Ten of Bethlehem's thirteen uncompleted ships are on fixed price contracts as well as all of the big ship reconversion jobs in the repair yards. The construction contracts were entered into on prices based on the 1945 wage scales. Since then a wage increase of 18 cents, following the national pattern, was forced on the industry. With no price relief the increase in cost due to higher wages and increased cost of materials resulted in losses which had to be absorbed by the company.

"The present high rates are driving both building and repair business away from American yards and will do so increasingly.

WAGE RATES AMONG HIGHEST PAID

"As union officials have pointed out, wage rates in shipbuilding are among the highest paid in manufacturing industries. There is already an advisory committee on the merchant marine appointed by President Truman to study the unfortunate position of the shipbuilding industry and to consider the possibility of government assistance to save the industry. In any event, no action should be taken at this time which would increase costs while the results of the government's study are pending.

"The average hourly earnings for all shipyards in the country as of January, 1947, was $1.42.1. While the union has quoted the base rates of 96 cents to $1.38, the average hourly earnings in Bethlehem yards are above $1.53.

EFFORTS TO KEEP YARDS ALIVE

"Bethlehem has been endeavoring to keep its yards alive, pending some improvement in the situation, by using them for non-ship work, such as manufacture of machinery, but here it has to compete with companies in those industries which have lower wage scales.

"The condition of the industry is reflected by the sharp drop in employment which has occurred. Bethlehem shipyard employment has already dropped from a peak in war time of 182,000 to 103,000 in August, 1945, and to 33,000 currently; in the Boston area from 29,700 in August, 1945, to 6,600 currently.

"The union comment on the wage increase on the West Coast calls attention to the excessive wage costs which have handicapped West Coast shipyards in the past and will have serious effects on their ability to obtain business. The recent wage increase repeats the situation which existed there prior to the war when the higher wage rates obtaining in West Coast shipyards kept the yards virtually empty. While Bethlehem has to meet the going rates in the San Francisco area, for such business as is available, it still feels that the situation there is unsound and detrimental to future business. Such a situation should not be repeated on the East Coast.

"We are also faced with the fact that the union demands are discriminatory against Bethlehem and other yards whose contracts expire now. This is because the present agreements and present wage rates of several competitors have been extended or will run in some cases to the end of the year without any wage increase.

"We sincerely hope that the union leaders will reconsider their calling of a strike, and accept the company's proposal to continue operations under an extension of the present agreement."

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—When should the spray program be started on potatoes?

A—To protect potatoes from the flea beetle you should start as soon as the plants are up. Dust with copper arsenate lime, which will also get any potato beetles that have arrived.

Q—The leaves of our beans look like lace, but there are no insects.

A—This is the damage caused by the adult of the Mexican bean beetle which has been laying eggs. Keep plants dusted to kill the larvae when they hatch. Magnesium arsenate or rotenone should give good control.

Q—What is causing our peony blooms to be poorly developed?

A—In some places peonies were damaged in the bud stage by late frost. This will not affect the plant for another season.

Q—Can the native hazelnut be cultivated?

A—Yes, it can. This bush is hardy, and will do well as a hedge. Improved varieties are available at your nursery.

Q—How long should it take parsley to come up?

A—Parsley seed germinates slowly. It may take from 14 to 21 days depending on the weather. Deep planting should be avoided for best results.

Q—If the D. D. T. dust sold for potatoes good for blight?

A—Some dusts are, provided they contain neutral copper as well as D. D. T. Check the formula on the package before you buy.

More Vets Quit School Than Enter Under GI Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — The Veterans Administration said today more veterans of World War II quit school during May than enrolled for courses under the GI bill. It was the first decline since the educational program began.

Nevertheless the agency predicts new registration peaks next fall and winter.

HAVE WE TOO MANY COOKS?

THERE ARE a number of implications, as well as some troublesome complications, in Secretary of State Marshall's plan for the rehabilitation of Europe through a postwar form of Lend-Lease.

The plan, as divulged in the Secretary's Commencement Day address at Harvard, contemplates that the nations of Europe will inventory their own "needs" and will tell us how much they "require."

In other words, Europe will present a sight draft upon our economic resources, the implication being that we would be morally obligated to honor the draft in full, since we asked for it.

That idea assumed global proportions when Foreign Minister Bevin of Great Britain blandly informed the House of Commons that he "hoped" that "the rest of the world" besides Europe would not be omitted from American bounty—implying obviously that the whole British Empire would become our pensioner.

A complication immediately presented itself, inasmuch as nobody at Washington knows how much we can give away out of our production, and former President Herbert Hoover, seconded by Mr. Bernard M. Baruch and Senator Vandenberg, had previously suggested that this country would be wise to "take stock" before committing itself to further charities abroad.

To meet the complication, President Truman announced that this country would at last make an inventory of its dispensable assets while the canny statesmen of Europe were compiling their combined "needs."

BUT THE PRESIDENT'S DELAYED ACTION SEEMS UNLIKELY TO MEET THE SITUATION.

EUROPE IS MAKING HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES.

GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE AND RUSSIA ARRANGED IMMEDIATELY TO ACT ON SECRETARY MARSHALL'S PROPOSAL.

THEIR JOINT REQUISITIONS—IF AGREED UPON—MAY BE FORTHCOMING SHORTLY.

ACTUALLY, Mr. Truman has adopted as complicated and incompetent a scheme for national stock-taking as could be devised.

He has divided the single task into three separate parts.

This needlessly complicated procedure is an excellent method for obtaining three conflicting answers to a single problem, with the final result of getting no reliable answer at all.

In short, President Truman's overlapping panels look more like a debating society than a competent fact-finding agency.

Meanwhile, Europe's sight draft may be prepared; and, since all beggar nations always ask for much more than they need, either we must arbitrarily curtail the invited demands or else attempt to meet the draft out of our dwindling resources without knowing how much we have or can spare.

MUCH MORE TO DO

A NEW Federal law requires manufacturers to color various poisons so that the housewives of the nation may be able to distinguish these lethal preparations from baking powder, sugar and salt, and thus avoid tragic accidents.

This is an important step forward in the right direction.

Yet there is much more for Congress to do in the prevention of needless deaths.

The barbituate problem is still a grave one, and many hundreds of persons are dying annually from overdoses of these supposedly harmless sleep-inducing compounds.

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell has striven for more than two years to induce Congress to regard these barbituates in a more realistic light and to subject them to the right kind of Federal control.

Her efforts should succeed, for further delay and procrastination on the part of Representatives and Senators can only mean more preventable and too often fatal accidents.

IN FRANCE cigarets are rationed. The allotment for French women was recently cut to 40 cigarets a month. Men are still alloted 160 cigarets per month. If anything like that was going on in this country husbands would split with their wives so each would have 100 cigarets a month. Well, anyway, those wonderful Chicago husbands would.

SEVEN VEILS — The dance of the seven veils, banned in England for 40 years, is now permitted in that country and was featured in a recent revival of Oscar Wilde's opera Salome. When that dance was introduced to the U. S. A. by Mary Garden the performance was stopped by the police. I don't know how long ago that was. I'll have to ask Clem McCarthy. However, I do recall Fannie Brice singing a song inspired by this dance. It was called "Sadie Salome Go Home" and was a riot of laughs.

Fannie Brice

ASIDES—Mrs. Mary McGrath, of 23 Thomas st., New York City, has been living in the same apartment for 75 years. She was born there, and married there . . . Of the whisky now being consumed in the United States only five per cent is Scotch whisky. That brilliant actor, Sir Cedric Hardwicke was born in Worcestershire, England, where the sauce comes from . . . A Californian sends me the luncheon menu of a Los Angeles restaurant pointing out this eatery has 21 entrees to choose from. He claims this is a record for restaurant luncheon menus.

IN PARIS—When legalized prostitution was abolished recently in Paris it was found that of 1500 women in registered brothels 1100 were married and were acting with the permission of their husbands. Two hundred of these 1100 women were married to policemen. So states Douglas Warth, London newspaperman, who has been investigating crime and vice in Paris.

PLEASE NOTE—Right now in New York city there are 25,000 unemployed building craftsmen. I doubt that in Mexico City there is one building craftsman out of a job. When I was there recently the building activity was terrific. Never before in any other city have I seen so many buildings under construction.

MULES & MEN—An experienced San Francisco wife says one of the best ways to insure the day getting off to a pleasant start is to serve a husband breakfast in bed and to give him the whole newspaper to read while he eats. She says this results in the old boy coming downstairs in a genial mood. Not only has this system proved successful at her house, but she says many of her friends have tried it with similar gratifying results.

ON THE HOUSE—It was my impression the custom of "drinks on the house" was entirely a thing of the past in this country. However, I understand that Tim Costello, a Third ave. Manhattan tavern keeper often extends this invitation to his patrons. That probably makes Tim the most old fashioned saloonkeeper in New York City. If not in the U. S. A.

SIDELIGHTS—A Baltimorean named Doris says she has seen the film "The Jolson Story" 57 times . . . Mrs. Joe Baksi, wife of the clever heavyweight boxer, not only manages her husband's business affairs but she irons all his shirts. Seems Mr. Baksi has never found a laundry capable of ironing a shirt in such a satisfying manner as his charming wife does . . . The tallest man in the world is Jan Van Albert of Amsterdam, Holland. Jan is nine feet three and a half inches tall. He weighs 372 pounds. His favorite breakfast is six raw eggs, three soup dishes of oatmeal, three pounds of ham and a dozen rolls.

PATIENT MAN — Am informed by a subscriber who was present that a Brooklyn shoe salesman recently had 35 boxes of shoes out for a woman customer. Then, after trying on all these shoes the woman didn't buy anything. My informant adds: "The salesman didn't even get angry. Shouldn't he have a prize for patience." Well, it seems this salesman should get such an award. But before agreeing I would like to know what the feminine customer looked like. Was she, for example, a shapely brown-eyed honey blonde, or an "oomph girl" brunette? Such customers are said to be a great aid to a shoe salesman's patience.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, June 27—We have heard so much dispute about unionism and the qualities of the labor laws since Roosevelt's first election that even persons of strong mind find that some old truths have been howled away in the clamor.

Westbrook Pegler

In some cases, individuals have waived or silently conceded important principles just for fear of being abused as reactionaries, Tories or economic royalists.

But not Pegler.

I have enjoyed it for 10 years. I have never lost an argument and now I win the debate.

It has been a pleasure to turn up gangsters and racketeers in the union movement and to taunt Green, Murray, Lewis and all the rest of them, and Roosevelt, too, in his day, with their failure to lift a hand to protect the rank and file from the likes of Joe Fay, for example.

It was a nice break of timing that brought us the over-riding vote in the Senate the same day that the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Fay and James Bove, two of the ripest rascals in the movement, and both international officers of big A. F. of L. unions.

IN THE DEBATES over the law to liberate labor from the chains of the unioneers we heard them bawling about the right to strike.

I think you will seldom hear the individual worker carrying on about his sacred right to strike, but you could easily get up quite a loud chorus in some areas about his right not to.

That right is one of the truths that has been howled away. It is, theoretically and morally, an American citizen's right to stay on the job and work if he wants to, even though he should be absolutely alone in a plant as big as Ford's.

But, under Roosevelt, hundreds of thousands of citizens lost millions of days' pay, and many went into debt because individual unioneers and groups of them personally decided to call strikes.

Under Roosevelt's laws and his system—under the laws that all the unioneers were defending as labor's Magna Carta—it has been possible, even customary, for some hoodlum to walk up to a job, blow a whistle and order the men off for no reason known to them.

When that happens, they had better get off the premises and not rely on the police to protect them from bodily harm.

When we started debating the new law, the unioneers themselves were honestly surprised to hear such a naive proposition.

They had really forgotten that the people had any rights at all in such cases. I am afraid most of the rest of us had forgotten, too.

ANOTHER TRUTH FORGOTTEN is that workers actually have no right to holidays and vacations with pay. Why should an employer give them pay? Would 5000 employes think of giving the company a day's work or two weeks' work free? Of course, it is possible to write a clause into a contract providing for pay for holidays and vacations, but actually other workers who buy the product of the plant pay this extra expense added to the final cost.

YET SOME OF THE PEOPLE BELIEVE THEIR UNION AGENTS WHEN THEY ARE TOLD THAT THE BOSS IS GIVING THEM SOMETHING, WILLINGLY OR NOT.

For years, the working stiff has been paying, out of his earnings, the lawyers' fees and other expenses of the defense of the Fays and Boves who have been prosecuted for robbing them or using them as implements to rob others.

This has become a firm custom.

It happens often, and not even the public authorities ever stir themselves to make the rogues give it back.

It is a tradition of our unionism and a corruption that sets unionism apart from the rest of our community, like a pesthouse.

Any other element of our society would be raided at once and prosecutions would follow for embezzlement or extortion in similar circumstances.

THE TRUTH IS THAT THIS MONEY BELONGS TO THE PEOPLE, BUT WE FORGOT THAT LONG AGO.

THE TRUTH IS, TOO, that many of the bosses run magazines and newspapers to glorify themselves, praise their policies and works, to abuse their rivals and misrepresent issues to the rank and file, all at the expense of the members.

I know of no other field in which reasonably intelligent and upright people would stand for the sort of self-praise at their expense that is turned out by Dan Tobin, of the Teamsters' Union, and Dave Beck, who commands the Northwestern Province of the Teamsters.

In any other field, it would be shocking, but we have become accustomed to many strange customs in the union racket.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 27—Since "The Jolson Story" there isn't a successful comedian who hasn't longed to have his life story put into a picture. One that is sure fire is Eddie Cantor's biography, and that, my friends, will be made. Over the luncheon table Jack Warner, Eddie Cantor and his agent, Abe Lastfogel, made the deal.

Eddie Cantor

The Cantor songs, which Eddie popularized on the stage when he was a star in the "Ziegfeld Follies," have been sung in every home in America. These, plus the famous people with whom Eddie was associated, will all be a part of the Cantor story.

Eddie, whose childhood was pretty grim, and who was raised on the East Side of New York, has always befriended poor children. Year after year he's given money to boys' camps. I have never known him to turn down a chance to do good. During the war he practically wore himself out entertaining soldiers.

Only recently Eddie and Ida, his wife, celebrated 33 years of married life.

Yes, I think Jack Warner has something, and I am glad we are going to see Eddie's life story in the movies.

IF JIMMY STEWART does all the pictures he's been offered, he'll be busy for the next 10 years. The most recent offer is to do "All My Sons," the Arthur Miller play for Universal-International.

Jimmy, who is in New York now, has been asked to go and see the play and make up his mind. It's a strong dramatic story and not at all like the shy, boyish type of thing Stewart has always done on the screen.

Chester Erskine, who is writing the adaptation, will produce the picture, and Jimmy could do both "Call Northside 777" and "All My Sons," since the latter will not be made until sometime later.

I CAN UNDERSTAND why Milton Sperling tore up Lilli Palmer's contract and gave her a new deal. I saw some rushes of "Ever the Beginning" and that Palmer gal is really something. I said so from the beginning, and I say it again. Lilli is a great addition to American movies.

After Lilli finishes "Ever the Beginning" she goes to Europe with her husband, Rex Harrison, on a vacation. And here I want to say Lilli was very upset over the Maria Palmer item. She says she doesn't even know the gal. Well, could be Maria is trying to get a little publicity. That's been done before, too. Story was that the girls were quarreling over the similarity of their names.

BRUCE CABOT had a serious operation on his throat and was told by doctors he wouldn't be able to talk for two or three weeks.

So, the girl friends of the popular Bruce (who loves to date a different charmer every night) have been surprised lately to pick up the telephone and hear Bruce saying, "Hello, darling. How would you like to go dancing tonight?"

If you think this is a mystery—you don't know the resourceful Mr. Cabot. Knowing he would be voiceless for some time, he had RECORDS made up before he went to the hospital and now he just drags the telephone over to the machine and speaks his piece! Now I've heard everything.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Rita Hayworth went off to Europe without signing her divorce complaint against Orson Welles, which led some of the Hollywood people to say perhaps Rita was planning another reconciliation.

Well, for those who believe there is a chance of her taking back the self-styled genius, here's the latest. She wrote her attorney, Frank Delcher, that she would be in Hollywood the middle of August and would at once file suit for divorce from the master mind.

It took exactly two minutes' conversation for Jack Warner and Errol Flynn to bury their grievances. Jack was burned up at Errol because he thought he held up "Silver River." As a matter of fact, Errol was in his dressing room awaiting the call from his director.

When I asked Errol about the report he was fighting with his boss, he said, "People tell Jack things and tell me things, but I never in my life have had any trouble straightening out difficulties once Jack and I talk them over."

He told me he and Nora leave for this island near Jamaica as soon as he finishes "Silver River." His father will meet them there.

"I want my dad to retire," Errol told me. "He's giving up his professorship in Ireland, but he's had an offer from the new university in Jamaica, so I don't know exactly what he will do."

J. Arthur Rank's diplomatic visit to Hollywood seems to have had its reaction in England. Leastways, the British have turned off the heat on American stars and movies recently. As exhibit A, witness the list of first 10 men and women in a popularity poll taken by London's leading movie magazine, "Picturegoer."

WOMEN:

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD, collected at random:

The latest gift Don "Red" Barry has given Joan Crawford is a $30,000 white mink coat. You can imagine the surprise of Teitelbaum, the furrier, when "Red" paid cash for this out-of-this-world gift. Tommy Dorsey is having himself a time these evenings. Now it's Audrey Young for whom he is buying dinner. They were at Peggy Cleary's Talk of the Town, apparently engrossed in each other. What's happened to Greg Bautzer and Audrey?

Audrey Young

Mary McBride, once Rudy Vallee's big moment, was married June 21 to Commander Cousins.

The Howard Kochs welcomed a baby boy several days ago. Papa is an MGM writer.

Kathryn Forbes, whose book "Mama's Bank Account" made history in the theater as "I Remember Mama," arrived in town today. She is here to visit the movie set of "I Remember Mama" at RKO. What a thrill it is for her!

Marilyn Maxwell dining at the Brown Derby with Dean Elliott, a musical director for NBC. Marilyn's divorce becomes final this week. Maybe she's going to give us a surprise.

Vanessa Brown's new heart interest is Peter Rankin, grandson of Harry Davenport, the grand old man of the screen.

Barbara Donahue, daughter of the late Jack Donahue, will soon announce her engagement to Sidney Miller, the song writer.

The argument between Joan Caulfield and John Farrow, director of "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," when she left the cast, is being much discussed. Gail Russell now has the part.

John Wayne is still on a strict diet for his ulcer. He's now at Catalina with his wife, trying to get his health back.

Edward Ashley goes to Acapulco on location with "Tarzan and the Mermaids" and his wife, Renee Torres, goes with him on account of that's where they were married and that's where they'll be on their 4th wedding anniversary.

Peter Godfrey's hand is so improved he's back directing "Mary Hagen," the Shirley Temple picture. He cut the hand when he tried to open a jammed door.

Maybe this is good business—I wouldn't know. After Belita sold her Beverly Hills home, she bought six trailers in which to take the ice company she's backing, "Rhapsody on Ice," on its tour. Well, at least she'll never have to worry about hotel rooms for her company.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

FROM THE 1944 PRESIDENTIAL campaign until now, this country has witnessed a united political front with regard to its foreign policy. The Republican and Democratic parties have functioned together as one in foreign affairs. The active opposition centered in left wing groups headed by Henry Wallace and Claude Pepper.

The father of the bipartisan policy was Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. During the 1944 campaign an appeal was made to him by Gen. Marshall not to impair the war effort by a general debate during the campaign. That was followed by negotiations between John Foster Dulles, representing Gov. Dewey, and Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, representing President Roosevelt. As a result of these conferences, the two parties agreed not to make the conduct of the war an issue.

Many Republicans at the time regarded this as an error of tactics and as not being in the best interest of the country. They felt that the presidential campaign was precisely the time to air the relations between the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia. Many of them still believe that Gov. Dewey lost the election because of this policy. Dewey, on the other hand, felt that he could not endanger our armies in the field or the prospects of victory or permit the campaign to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

SUBSEQUENTLY, Sen. Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles, representing the Republican party, attended a number of international conferences. Sen. Warren Austin, a Republican, was appointed the United States delegate to the United Nations. John Foster Dulles, on a number of occasions, provided the formula and text which became American policy and Sen. Vandenberg held the Republicans in line behind the President on major issues, including the Greco-Turkish aid, the wisdom of which many Republicans doubted, and the confirmation of the Italian and Hungarian treaties, which many Republicans really opposed. Even more, no major investigation of the State Department has been instituted, although many feel that that is essential in view of their suspicion that Communists have won high places where they ought not to be.

Undoubtedly, as a result of this bipartisan policy, Herbert Hoover, the most effective personality among Republicans, has served the President on several missions of the greatest importance.

This policy appears to have outlived its usefulness. In the first place, it is impossible to make a clear demarcation between the foreign and domestic policies of this country. For instance, when the administration commits itself to export $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000 a year to Europe and Asia for a prolonged number of years, it stipulates the nature of taxes, wages and prices in this country. The Republicans cannot support dollar exports abroad and seek lower taxes at home, because the two are really one. The same is true in many other matters, as, for instance, support of a Socialistic government in England while we imperil our own cotton and wool markets.

THE BREACH then in the bipartisan policy is being made by domestic issues. The President's veto of the tax bill, and the activities of his agents among representatives and senators to prevent overriding the veto, engendered a bitterness which will be felt in every quarter. The fact that the State Department is pressing the Export-Import Bank and the World Bank to make political loans, which cannot be repaid and are therefore illegal, has reached Congressional ears and gives the impression of roundabout double-crossing that annoys no end. Furthermore, the Marshall plan is viewed with considerable suspicion because it gives the impression of encouraging the debtors to bring pressures upon this country which it may be as embarrassing to reject as it will be impossible to fulfill.

In a word, the honeymoon is turning into a Hollywood marriage—one of those things that are wonderful while they last but which must split on the rock of divergent interests. The split is here, although the divorce papers have not been filed. Once it is all in the open it will be clear that the principal issue in the 1948 campaign will be foreign affairs, and the argument will revert to Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam. It will not be nice going.

WASHINGTON, June 27—A constructive by-product of the historic scene in which the Senate slapped President Truman in the puss with his labor bill veto was that so many of our heavy-thinking commentators and analysts finally discovered the location of the Capitol.

They arrived at this hidden edifice, deep in the Tibetan Himalayas beyond Lhasa, with pencil-bearers and guides, looking like discoverers of a lost continent. A few appeared so carried away by their triumph we were afraid they'd plant an American flag in the Senate press gallery and claim it for the United States.

We saw faces we hadn't seen in years, but which we knew were still around somewhere because they are forever being opened to give voice to authoritative utterance. These kissers were pursed in deep foreboding—and it was a good thing President Truman couldn't see them or he'd probably have grabbed his vetoes and run screaming for the hills.

"It is like old home week," commented Col. Harold Beckley, veteran superintendent of the press gallery. "I hadn't seen some of them since Cleveland's second inauguration."

THE REASON they finally sought out the place where news is made is that they wished to intersperse their analytical finds with colorful eyewitness stuff like: "As I sat looking down upon our grim-faced lawmakers—" This is calculated to show the customers they are right on the job and can move around as well as think.

Never has there been such a turnout; not even the day the House declared war against the Axis. In fact, a few were heard to pontificate that the occasion was more important, in its far-reaching aspects, than the declaration of war.

Of course they crowded out the working press, but what would you have? The thinkers had to have room to think.

Unfortunately, their interpretations were not what you might call uniform. Here are some of the weightier translations I heard:

1—That President Truman had committed political suicide and was just waiting around to be embalmed

2—That Truman had pulled off the slickest political trick of the decade

3—That the President would run again next year and be re-elected in a Democratic landslide.

4—That he wouldn't run again but would return to the haberdashery business and make a financial killing embroidering vetoes on socks.

5—That the people of America would never forgive or forget the President's brazen attempt to flout their will.

6—That the people's memory is short—the President will come up with a tax reduction plan just before the Democratic convention, mail tax rebate checks to the voters a couple of days before the election, and be hallelujahed back into office.

I have no opinion to speak of, but if this makes Mr. Truman a great popular hero I am going to consider the advisability of poking my immediate boss in the snoot. It should make him love me and want to raise my wages.

THE TERRIBLE RAVAGES of peace have made it hazardous for Sen. William F. Knowland, of California, to sit down.

The Republican Mr. Knowland, who celebrated his 39th birthday yesterday, had a nifty wardrobe of summer suits when he went into the army in 1942. He served three years, during which time he kept his weight down to a level of 185

Peace and Senate bean soup, however, have filled him out until he is now 208, and still gaining. But he still has the same summer suits.

The other day he got up gingerly to make a speech, looking from the waist down as if he were wearing tights. He concluded his oratory and started to squat. But a slight rending made him think better of it. So he turned and strode from the chamber.

The most ribald comment of all came from Mr. Oliver Lerch, noted political writer:

"Bill Knowland looks as if that suit came with a baseball bat."

VFW to Urge Congress Act On Vet Housing

Two resolutions demanding immediate aetion on the housing problem were submitted to the convention committee on resolutions today at the opening of the 27th annual state encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Edward M. Quinn of Watertown, committee chairman, said one resolution, offered by the Josejph P. Kennedy, Jr., Post, VFW, urged swift passage of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill and asked the encampment to forward copies to President Truman and all members of the Massachusetts congressional delegation. The other resolve requested Congress not to adjourn without passing adequate legislation to solve the housing crisis.

Delegates at the first business session today in the Irvington st., Armory, learned the resolutions committee has under consideration a resolve protesting the "extremely severe sentence" imposed on Michael DiBartolo, Squantum soldier, given a life imprisonment term as a deserter in Italy. DiBartolo contended he was absent for two years because of amnesia.

The delegates were welcomed to Boston by temporary mayor, John B. Hynes, his first public appearance as city chief executive.

The encampment opened with several hundred delegates in attendance while thousands of VFW men arrived for the wee-end festivities.

The annual military ball tonight in the Arvington st., Armory, a drum and bugle competition in the Fens Stadium at 9 a. m. tomorrow, and the encampment parade, starting at 5 p. m., tomorrow are high lights of the convention program.

Charles Downing Pressman, Retires

Charles Downing of Oak st., Weymouth, assistant foreman of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser pressroom, who has been connected with the Hearst newspapers here and in Chicago for 45 years, will retire tomorrow night.

He was presented with a purse of money by 125 fellow pressroom employes and wished Godspeed through Neal Farrell, spokesman.

Downing, who worked in Chicago seven years before coming here for 38 years, will retire to a farm near Chicago with his wife. He is a Spanish-American War veteran.

Buses Run as St. Louis Transit Strike Ends

ST. LOUIS, June 27 (AP)—Street cars and buses resumed service today, ending a 14-day strike that had paralyzed public transportation facilities in this area of more than 1,000,000 population. An agreement settling the strike was signed early today

58,000 Chinese Dollars To $1 Sets New Low

SHANGHAI, June 27 (AP)—Troubled Chia felt the impact today of civil war reverses and the country's failure to qualify for a $500,000,000 American loan before the end of June.

Chinese currency sank to an all-time low, 58,000 to one American dollar. (The legal rate is 12,000 to one). Commodity prices rose higher annd higher.

NO MORE MEN

NORTHAMPTON, June 27—After reviving its "women only" tradition for one year to accept male students, Smith College officials announced today the institution will revert to its former policy, and after the present male students, less than a dozen in number, have finished their studies, no more males will be accepted.

Curley

man who has spent most of his life in service to the Democratic party should find himself in such an unhappy position today.

"The fight is going on. I have been promised that."

Another Washington development came from Cong. John W. McCormack, former majority leader, who said:

"I have done everything I could for my old and cherished friend. I shall continue to fight for him. The fight to free him is just getting under way."

A nationally prominent Republican leader, who asked not to be identified, said:

"Democratic leaders in Washington today are frantic. The effect of this will be felt throughout the country. There will be terrific repercussions."

Following regular procedure, Curley will be under a quarantine status for 30 days, during which time he cannot have visitors.

After that period no one may visit him except members of his immediate family, and they must share one hour per month, the maximum visiting time allowed any prisoner.

Visiting hours are from 1 p. m. to 4 from Monday through Friday, with two periods each Saturday and Sunday, 9 a. m. to noon and 1 p. m. to 4.

The mayor will be allowed to send out a maximum of three letters a week. He may receive not more than seven letters a week—and these must be from senders he has previously designated for the prison records. All other mail will be returned to the senders.

Today he was issued khaki trousers and shirt, regulation attire for the quarantine period. When that has elapsed, and if his condition permits, he will go before a classification board comprising the warden, parole officers, chaplains and others.

The board will determine what assignment the mayor shall be given, in accordance with his health, aptitude, experience and preference, in the prison duty system.

Curley's spiritual needs will be ministered to by the Rev. Lawrence Flanagan, Catholic chaplain.

When he becomes a part of the general prison routine he will arise at 6:30, breakfast at 7, have luncheon at 11:50 and supper at 5, followed by a recreation period and lights out at 10:25.

If he responds to hospitalization he will be assigned to one of 11 dormitories.

The Danbury prison, which stresses corrective measures along with its punitive function, is called "The College" by residents of the city. It has an educational program of through-high school curriculum and its 508 inmates, most of whom are in the 25-34 age bracket, have a comparatively high literacy rating, according to Acting Warden Thieman.

It was considered possible Curley might be assigned to an instructional post in that program.

He arrived at the prison at 11 o'clock last night after being escorted by deputy U. S. marshals.

When Dr. John Cauley, Boston health commissioner, sought to speak to the mayor and give him medication the guards said "No." Dr. Cauley then turned over medicine and insulin so the mayor could treat himself.

It was the same story at Bridgeport, where the mayor was hurried into a prison sedan for the 25-mile ride to prison.

Only one reporter got near enough to him to ask, "How are you feeling, Mr. Mayor?"

"I'm tired," he said. "I'm not feeling very well."

Photographers were brushed aside, action which brought a show of impatience from the mayor. "For heaven's sake," he said, "this isn't necessary. Let the poor fellows have their pictures."

Judge Daniel Gillen did get near enough to Curley at Bridgeport to pass along the information that City Clerk Hynes had been named acting mayor and that Curley could take over his duties as mayor just as soon as he is released.

According to affidavits offered to Judge James Proctor, who declined to give clemency or probation, the mayor is suffering from cystitis, gall bladder trouble, arteriosclerosis, diabetes, cerebral thrombosis, hemorrhage of the eye, hypertension, prostate gland trouble and impending cerebral hemorrhage.

Judge Proctor's dismissal of Curley's plea for leniency roused Rep. John W. McCormack to a speech in Congress in which he called the jurist's action "cold, and indefensible."

"Having in mind the poor physical condition of Mayor Curley the action of Judge Proctor in denying clemency is amazing," he said.

"His action in denying that execution of the sentence be suspended long enough to permit Mayor Curley to attend to important matters affecting state and municipal business is indefensible.

"It is impossible for me to understand and appreciate the judicial mind that would deny the mayor of any city, particularly a city of the importance of Boston, a reasonable period of time, as requested.

"To say that such action is cold is expressing myself mildly."

Pastor Convicted Of Burning Own Church

MILWAUKEE, June 27 (AP)—Dr. John Lewis, scholarly pastor-on-leave of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, was convicted today by a jury of 10 men and two women of a charge of having set a fire Jan. 25 that did $150,000 damage to his church.

The State had charged the 73-year-old clergyman had fired the church in order to obtain a "bigger and better" edifice. Conviction on an arson charge in Wisconsin carries a maximum penalty of one to 10 years in prison.

Judith Tingley-Foor to Wed

HAVING TAKEN PART in two weddings already this month, Judith Tingley-Foor of Brookline and Paul Jones Whipple of Plymouth should have no qualms about walking down the middle aisle at their own marriage tomorrow. Their wedding will be at Harvard Congregational Church with a reception at the home of Judy's guardians, Miss Gertrude Tingley and Miss Mary Foor.

A round of gay festivities in honor of Judy and Paul will continue right up to the day of the wedding. Her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James Alan Morrison, gave a bridal dinner at Wellesley Country Club this week. Last evening, Mrs. Whipple Fry was hostess for 40 guests, including the wedding party, families and a few close friends, at a dinner party in Chestnut Hill.

Mrs. Charles Rugg and daughter Cynthia, Judy's maid of honor, gave a bridesmaid's luncheon yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Chase and daughter Lavinia, a bridesmaid, are entertaining at dinner at The Country Club after the rehearsal tonight, and tomorrow noon Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Whipple, Jr., parents of the groom, are giving a luncheon at The Country Club.

Paul and his bride are going to Bermuda for their honeymoon and will live in Plymouth.

JANE HALLETT BADGER
Plans July Ceremony

JANE HALLETT BADGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Badger of Beacon st. has chosen Saturday, July 5, as the date of her marriage to Clifford Augustus Newell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Newell, also of Boston.

Rev. Halsey DeWolf Howe will perform the ceremony at Grace Church, Vineyard Haven, at 1 p. m. The reception will be at Tree Tops, West Chop summer home of the bride's parents.

Jane's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Badger, 3d of Southboro and Chatham will be matron of honor and best man. Jane made her debut at a garden party at Tree Tops several summers ago and is a member of the Junior League.

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: Speaking of pre-wedding festivities, several have been added to the many parties in honor of Joan Blake and Dr. Timothy A. Lamphier, another of tomorrow's bridal couples. Mrs. Bertram S. Hawkins of Wellesley Hills is giving a bridesmaids' luncheon today and Mrs. Herbert Davis, sister of the groom, a cocktail party and supper this evening.

On the eve of her departure to visit her mother on a Montana ranch, post deb Claire Everett dined and danced at the Copley Plaza Oval Room with Frank Law of Forest Hills, L. I., and Harvard. Claire's dad lives in Chestnut Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Minot Milliken had an Oval Room date before taking off for Bar Harbor, and J. Forbes Amory, who has returned to the shipping buisness entertained Katharine Robinson of New York

Now that Americans can travel abroad again the 1947 Summer Social Register shows a large increase in the number of families going to Europe this season. According to the little black and red book Dan Cupid's wartime rush has slowed down for only 947 marriages are listed, just about the average of pre-war years.

Keep Hand Skin Ageless

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THERE'S MORE to beautiful hands than sparkling fingertips. You can have the best-looking fingernails in all the world . . . and yet have no valid claim to beautiful hands unless the skin texture is unbeaten by time, soft and as young-looking as your face.

MORE THAN personality is reflected in a woman's hands. Her age, too . . . as certainly as though she held up her birth certificate for public scrutiny. To combat time's ravages in tell-tale hand-skin . . . a new and scientific hand cream is available . . . one which contains an ingredient to replenish the youth quotient.

Beauty is an all-encompassing proposition . . . a thrilling adventure, to be sure . . . but it is the sum total of all the component requisites. There can be no single concentration on but rather an inclusive pursuit of all the items that make for a personable woman. You wouldn't wear mud-covered shoes with a new costume, would you?

Hair, face, eyes, mouth, throat, figure, feet . . . all may be just dandy . . . but the picture isn't complete without lovely hands. For hands are as important to you as an expression medium . . . a revelation of the true you . . . as eyes and mouth. Hands are more than appendages . . . more than just useful body tools to work and eat with. If you would hold beauty in the palm of your hand . . . back it up with exquisitively-textured, soft-skinned hands.

Don't favor your face, hair and figure over hands. Pamper your face by all means . . . but remember beauty doesn't stop there.

SKIN OF THE HANDS AGE

You recall the story about the mother with four children. Someone unthinkingly asked her which child she loved the most. Smiling wistfully she held up her hand. Can I like one finger more than the other . . . do I need one finger more than the other? she asked. So in the beauty game. We gals must love every beauty medium as much as the next . . . take them all in stride . . . and try to make the most of all our features.

It is virtually an old story to remind you that the skin of the hands ages as rapidly as the skin of the face . . . with the passing of the years. We've done much about thwarting the ravages of time . . . denying them refuge in our complexion. Now we can do the same for the skin of the hands.

The same cosmetic company which pioneered in the field of scientific, estrogenic substance, facial reclaim cream . . . has done the same thing with a cream for recapturing the youthful look for the hands. Into a quickly absorbing, non-greasy liquid cream they have put a substance to the youth quotient of the body to enable the hand skin to regain the resilient, vibrant, lovely look.

It smooths on the hands like a dream and then quickly disappears into the tissues to replenish nature in preserving lovely, youthful-appearing hands. Don't wait until your hand skin begins to shrivel up and takes on the aged look . . . start now to keep it ever ageless.

For the name of this scientific hand cream with estrogenic substance, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Twin Salads for Luncheon; Casserole Buffet Supper

By MARTHA LEE

(From the American Home Economics Convention)

ST. LOUIS, June 27—Flavor mates! Party mates! Cranberry sauce and chicken are menu news this month, and they're taking different roles each time they're served.

AWNING STRIPES are assembled into a cool summer classic with full skirt, brief sleeves, trim belted waistline and double rows of front buttons. Fashioned of Hope Skillman's wide, wide striped chambray in either brown, green or blue on white . . . it is a typical nifty for the pert pretties, figuratively and facially speaking. Used horizontally . . . the stripes accent the hipline where accent is accumulative this season. R. M.

A twin salad feature for the summer luncheon; a casserole special for the buffet supper; a matchless entree for the evening meal.

This twin salad is one of those meal-in-one dreams that brings real joy to the cook. There's a colorful fruit-filled gelatin mold for one lettuce cup and a generous serving of chicken salad for the other. Hot rolls and cheese-spread potato chips complete the party menu. A quick and easy choice for the summer hostess.

TWIN SALADS

Chicken Salad:

2 cups diced cooked chicken
2 tbsp. chopped olives
¾ cup chopped celery
½ cup toasted almonds
2 tbsp. chopped pickle
2 diced hard-boiled eggs
¾ cup mayonnaise

Combine ingredients in the order given. Toss lightly. Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with water cress or parsley.

Cranberry Molds:

1 1-lb. can jellied cranberry sauce
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water ½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup diced celery
1-3 cup nuts, chopped
1-3 cup diced apple

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot water. Pour hot liquid over cranberry sauce in a bowl and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Chill gelatin until partially set. Fold in rest of ingredients. Turn mixture into 6 individual molds to finish setting. When firm, unmold onto salad greens and garnish with curled celery and olives. Makes 6 servings.

CHICKEN SALAD BOWL

1 1-lb. can jellied cranberry sauce
2 cups cooked chicken, cubed
½ cup chopped celery
2 cups shredded lettuce
3 tbsp. salad oil 1 tbsp. vinegar
Salt and pepper
½ tsp. dry mustard
Chopped parsley, chives
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced

Slice the cranberry sauce into ½-inch slices. From each slice cut a chick with a chick cookie cutter. Garnish the following chicken salad with these cranberry chicks.

Toss the chicken, celery and lettuce in a salad bowl. Combine vinegar, salad oil, salt, pepper, mustard, parsley, chives. Moisten chicken salad mixture with this dressing. Fold in diced hard-cooked eggs. Serve in lettuce banked salad bowl and top with cranberry sauce chicks. Allow at least one cranberry chick for each serving.

HAWAIIAN MOLD

1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup hot water
1 1-lb. can jellied cranberry sauce
½ tsp salt
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped apple
1 cup chopped cooked chicken

Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Put cranberry sauce in a bowl and crush with a fork. Pour hot liquid over and beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Add salt. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in celery, apple and chicken. Turn into individual molds that have been rinsed out in cold water and chill. When firm, unmold onto cups of lettuce that have been marinated in French dressing. Serve with French dressing or mayonnaise.

HOURS FOR FORMAL TEA

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What are the customary hours for a formal tea or afternoon reception? ANITA.

Usually from four to seven. Sometimes from four to six.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Have more confidence in yourself. The stars are shining favorably upon you. But you must learn to assert yourself more vigorously.

Lucky number: 15.
Lucky color: DARK BLUE.
Lucky flower: WHITE ROSE.
Lucky stone: AGATE.

Signing Card

Never sign a greeting card with a title before your name. A signature is always the informal name . . . so sign the card "Mary" or for identification, "Mary Robinson," or "Mary and John" or "Mary and John Robinson."

Let Him Write First

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: There is a boy who attended my school for nearly a year. I was very fond of him and he was fairly friendly with me.

He has gone to another state now but is coming back in the fall. One of his classmates gave me his address, but I don't know whether I should write to him or not. Since he is not such a very close friend, I thought it might be wrong.

"A READER."

DEAR "READER":

In a case of this sort, I think it would be wiser to let the first letter come from the boy. Of course I don't think there would be any harm if sometime during the summer you dropped him a picture postcard and said you hoped he was having a nice vacation and that all his friends in your town were looking forward to seeing him again in the fall.

But don't make it a very personal message. Just let it be a casual word of greeting. It is much better to under-play a thing of this kind than over-play it.

Stripes Give Slim Look to Cottons

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE designers have been doing a bit of long division in their cotton collections this season. By using color for a dividing line, they have brought slim, long lines to casual cottons.

Sometimes this look of slenderness is achieved by the use of two colors, or two tones of the same color, in a half-and-half effect. But more often it is stripes, worked in a variety of ways, that have been put to work as slenderizers. You will see a whole dress striped on the diagonal. Often, just one bold stripe of color goes from the shoulder to the hemline. One of the most effective ways in which stripes have been used is in a patterned effect across the bodice of a surplice dress and down one side of the skirt.

Such a dress is sketched today. Claire Smith designed it in palest gray chambray with the stripes in muted tones of gray and pink. The crosswise stripes follow the surplice neckline and extend into the skirt on the opposite side.

PAPER PLANT PAY RAISE

RUMFORD, Me., June 27—Hourly wages of 2800 employes of the Oxford Paper Co were raised 14 to 16 cents, setting the new scale at $1.07 to $1.09, it was announced by a union representative who negotiated a new contract with the management.

Townsendites in Capital To Back Newest Plan

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Some 3000 followers of Dr. Francis E. Townsend's old age pension program opened a three-day convention.

They are in town to support the latest Townsend plan bill, sponsored by Rep. Angell (R.) of Oregon. It provides for $100 monthly pensions to all persons over 60, all disabled persons and mothers with dependent children.

VFW Prepares For Military Ball

Business sessions of the 27th annual encampment of the Mass. Dept., Veterans of Foreign Wars, were held in the Irvington st. armory today as additional thousands of VFW men poured into the city for the week-end activities.

Colorful uniforms will highlight the annual military ball, to be held tonight in the same armory.

A drum and bugle corps competition at Fens Stadium at 9 a. m., and the military parade starting at 5 p. m. will highlight tomorrow's program.

The encampment will close Sunday with memorial services at noon and election of officers at 2.

Menjou Perfect as the D. A.; Nelson Eddy in Co-Feature

"Mr. District Attorney," a kiss-interpolated adaptation of radio's popular crime-on-the-run serial, and "Northwest Outpost," a familiar but flavorful musical romance, are presently keeping the Paramount and Fenway theaters well filled.

That man of distinction, Adolphe Menjou, plays "Mr. District Attorney" credibly and with sartorial perfection. Dennis O'Keefe, as his brilliant, young assistant, and Marguerite Chapman, whose beauty masks a criminal taint, team up as the love interest. Michael O'Shea plays Harrington.

The film adheres to the radio-created characters but detours from the air-waves' scripting in the interest of audience-appeal. The Paramount's opening-show customers gave evidence of enjoying this foray into the rackets via the law-enforcing angle.

On the other foot, the Nelson Eddy-Ilona Massey co-starrer, set in the 1830's when Russia held part of California, has charm, a pleasing Rudolf Friml score and a pair of leads who know what to do with a tuneful melody.

Eddy's ex-American cavalry officer and the lovely Miss Massey's titled Russian fall in love against the background of a trading fort governed by a Russian prince (Hugo Haas) and under the officer's command. The Russians, trading for furs and holding off Indian raids, know that eventually the Americans will take over the land. The ex-U. S. officer is there, unofficially, to help pave the way.

A sordid touch in this placid idyll is the recurrent presence of Russian convicts, in chains, engaged in road-building in a sun-dappled, Californian Siberia. One of these is the countess' husband, whom Joseph Schildkraut plays in very neatened-up fashion. This is the only discordant note in his otherwise first-rate portrayal.

Nelson Eddy fans, legion here as elsewhere, will find him in his customary good voice. Miss Massey, her entrancing beauty framed in a series of beautiful gowns, also soars between the low and the high notes to your ear's delight.

Ann Sheridan Clicks in Met Screen Return

A potent script stoutly maintained by the performances of the popular starring trio of Ann Sheridan, Lew Ayres and Zachary Scott and a strong supporting cast should put "The Unfaithful" over at the Met boxoffice.

The David Goodis-James Gunn screen play tackles a topical social problem intelligently and entertainingly. The handsome Miss Sheridan is cast as the wife of Zachary Scott, in the role of a soldier whose return from overseas' service is unhappily timed to her fatal stabbing of a man who had recently ardently wooed her.

The wife's trial for murder, her plea for her husband's forgiveness, his insistence on a divorce, and their eventual reconciliation are handled with genuine understanding and sincerity.

Miss Sheridan, too long absent from the screen, makes a most impressive r[illegible] in the role of the cheating wife.

Edmond O'Brien Cops Top Honors in Boston's 'The Web'

Edmond O'Brien, the poor man's Spencer Tracy, steps away out in front as the villain-hero of the RKO-Boston's new mystery drama, "The Web."

Though not at all remarkable as to plot, "The Web" is sparked by clever dialogue and deft direction, for which scripters William Bowers and Bertram Millhauser and director Michael Gordon are to be credited.

Co-operating with O'Brien on delivering the Universal-International yarn's hep dialogue with authority and freshness are Ella Raines, of the eyes-have-it department, Bill Bendix and Vincent Price as well as a group of distinguished featured players.

Price, as a wealthy industrialist, and O'Brien, as the young lawyer he hires for a fat fee as his bodyguard, are interesting foils for each other. Miss Raines plays the former's secretary-sweetheart who winds up in the latter's arms.

Jerry Bresler has given "The Web" a grade A production. Other top suspense-building factors are Irving Glassman's lensing and Hans J. Salters' score. But the over-all contribution to the film's effectiveness is Edmond O'Brien's popularity zooming performance

Gene Kelly Dances To New Film Fame

"Living in a Big Way," Gene Kelly's first picture for Metro since his three-year Navy hitch, presents the dancing champ dancing in a big way.

In restoring him to his astronomical fan following . . . and they packed Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters to capacity yesterday . . . the studio has assigned him an Atlas task, selling him short on story and requiring him to carry the entire burden of the picture.

His dancing is fabulous, has never been better and is certain to make "Living in a Big Way" a cinematic best-seller. But, from us to you, Metro hasn't done right by our favorite dancing-man in the matter of his comeback script. Intoxicated, no doubt, by Kelly's mesmerizing stepping, Gregory La Cava, who wrote the script (with Irving Ravetch) based on his own original story as well as directed, has allowed choreography to play hob with his typewriting.

The star gets starring support from New Englander Phyllis Thaxter, Charles Winninger, Spring Byington, Clinton Sundberg and the stage's grand trouper, Jean Adair.—P. D.

Employment for Men

THIS JOB IS NOT EASY...

BUT IMPORTANT

When the Japanese were on our very doorstep in the Aleutians, you read of the bitter fight put up by the 7th Infantry Division, and how these tough fighters were first to drive the enemy from our own soil. Then on to Kwajalein, Leyte and Okinawa, the 7th blazed a trail of heroism that will long be remembered.

Today this famous unit, situated in the midst of rugged mountain grandeur, is working hard to restore peace and introduce Democracy to Korea. This vital job, varied with competitive sports and opportunities for wide game hunting on leave time, often makes the 7th Division man's life an exciting one.

A select group of young men are now offered an opportunity to join the "Hourglass Division." While life is rugged, Jobs here offer unusual opportunities for saving money and for advancement to positions of responsibility. After initial training in the U. S. you may join right up with the 7th if you sign up for 3 years.

Remember, overseas pay is 20% higher, so a Private starts at $90 a month in Korea, in addition to food, clothing, quarters, and a retirement annuity. You'll be amazed at how much you can save! Get full details today at U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 85 Tremont St., Boston Mass

Hughson, Harris Must Be Counted Out of Flag Plans

By HERB FINNEGAN

WASHINGTON, June 27—Hughson, Harris, Tebbetts, DiMaggio form quite a list of key men to be ailing simultaneously. "Thank goodness, Dorish is healthy," said Joe Cronin as he sent the husky Red Sox freshman against Washington southpaw Mickey Haeffner in the second game of the series today. The Sox have yet to win a game in Washington. Last night's 7-2 defeat was their fourth here.

Let's discuss them in order:

1—Hughson—his trouble goes back to the early days of the season when he complained of a "cold finger" on his throwing hand. Diathermy treatments failed to bring it around, although occasionally he would flash symptoms of his '46 form. It was Yank trainer Eddie Froelich who first said: "There's a nerve involvement. The trouble goes higher than his finger. It centers in the elbow or shoulder."

He wasn't far from wrong. Hughson tried to hide his troubles for some time and punished himself because Mickey Harris was on the shelf. But finally, after losing to Detroit Wednesday, he complained of an aching elbow. "I'd like to visit Dr. Bennett in Baltimore," he said to Cronin. So he had X-rays taken.

"There are no bone chips," said the Texan. "I know because I saw pictures of Walter Lanfranconi, taken in '41, and Rube Melton. I could see their chips. Doctor said there was nothing basically wrong. Told me to take diathermy treatment and longer rest between games."

"Looks as if he'll be a once-a-week pitcher," said Cronin, and that is the optimistic view.

Hughson had shoulder trouble in '41 as a rookie. That was cleared up. Elbow trouble is more serious.

"It twinged in the first inning against Detroit," he confessed. "When Mierkowicz failed twice to bunt, I tried to put a little extra on the ball to fan him, and something gave." He lasted only four innings.

Hughson, 22-game winner in '42, 20-game winner last year, is 31. He should be at the crest of his career but more likely he's in the twilight of it. Elbow trouble usually calls for an operation and complete rest. If Hughson keeps trying to pitch, he'll only aggravate the hurt. And if he's no more effective than he has been of late he might as well be resting.

More Injuries Than '46 Tigers

2—Harris—"Complete rest for 10 days. Don't throw a ball and eat less meat," is Dr. Bennett's prescription for the 17-game winner of '46. Well, Mickey rested it all of April and May, pitched twice and had to call it quits. Isn't it reasonable to predict, consequently, that his arm will kick up against he tries it in 10 days? On Cleveland's first visit to Boston on May 21, Bill McKechnie hit the sore spot on Mickey's shoulder and Mickey hit the roof, in agony. "Don't throw, young man, don't throw until that's healed," said McKechnie who knows his pitchers. Mickey, itching for action, disregarded his advice and see where he is today.

It is this reporter's belief that a fish diet will not heal Mickey's arm and that he'll be of no value to the Sox the rest of the campaign; also that Hughson will be little better. More, they are in danger of ruining their arms for keeps.

The pair have five victories between them. A year ago today, they had 17 and sound arms. It is difficult to picture the Sox winning a pennant with Dobson, Ferriss, Galehouse and Dorish.

Dobson is not a hot weather pitcher. Last year he had eight games won at this time. He won only five more until the World Series. He sagged in the summer and lost his starting job to Bagby before staging his fine comeback. Last night, for the third time in his last five starts, all in humid weather, he failed to finish his game. He gave only three hits in the 4 2-3 innings he worked, but it was evident he had lost his stuff when Newsom singled the Nats' first run across and Yost and Lewis walked. If Joe loses his effectiveness, the Sox pitching will be in a sorry state. He's been their best performer to date.

(3) Tebbetts—Suffering from "jammed" thumb on gloved hand. "Got it catching a Hughson slider while Cullenbine was at bat in the fourth inning of Wednesday's first game. Knocked the glove right off my hand. I should have quit on the spot. I aggravated it by staying in the game. It would be less painful if it were broken.

Cronin thinks Tebbetts will be out a week. "I'll be ready for Sunday's twin bill with the A's," said Birdie. "I could catch right now in a pinch." If he did, he'd probably injure the appendage more seriously. Better for him to rest.

(4) DiMaggio—Didn't swing naturally in the four games he played earlier in the week, so Cronin prescribed further rest. Dom ripped a shoulder muscle June 2 in Chicago, was idle until last Sunday. He made only two hits in 15 ab's in four games, so what with his injury and his failure to hit Mele replaced him in center and Moses returned to action in right field.

Not a pretty picture, is it? The Sox are having more injuries to key men than the Tigers had last year, and the Tigers had plenty (Evers, Mayo, etc.). Recall, too, those '46 Tigers finished second in the A. L. race.

Ted Boosts Average to .303

Leon Culberson has been working out at third base, and you can bet if Gutteridge continues to hit at a .170 "gait" Culberson will take his job. Culby, always a threat at the plate, played several games at third last year until a Joe DiMaggio scorcher broke the index finger of his right hand. Soon after, Cronin bought Mike Higgins and Culby returned to the outfield . . . Williams ripped Bobo Newsom for a single, triple and double, all well hit. In the third, Bobo threw his "eephus" pitch a La Rip Sewell. Williams walked up, as he did when he homered off Sewell in the '46 All-Star game, and lined a triple to the left field corner. It was the fifth time this year he has made three hits in a game, and the trio of base knocks boosted his average to .303. On his fourth time at bat he hit the ball hard to Priddy's left but Priddy came up with it and threw him out. In the ninth he drove Lewis to the right field wall for his long drive off Ferrick. It was the best day he's had at bat all season and one of the few times he's been at bat five times in a game.

Doerr fanned for the third out with two on in the first, fouled to Vernon for the third out with Williams on third in the third, popped to Christman with the bases loaded in the fifth, but hit a terrific triple to deep center in the seventh to score Pesky with the tying run. Doerr was out at the plate trying to stretch it into a homer on a fine relay to Evans by Priddy.

Braves-Dodgers Duel Draws Sellout Tonight

By FRED HOEY

In the midst of the National League flag battle for the first time in 22 years the Braves will play to a capacity crowd tonight at Braves Field when the ever dangerous Brooklyn Dodgers make another visit here.

The grandstand is a complete sellout while the bleacher seats which go on sale at 6:30 tonight, should be quickly disposed of. The Dodgers are always a colorful team and a top magnet in this city as well as in other cities around the loop.

The Braves stunned the baseball world when they took a twin bill from Brooklyn on Memorial Day. The locals, over the past two seasons, have had considerable trouble holding their own with Brooklyn which made the recent double win all the more surprising.

The Dodgers can't be sold short, even though many experts lean to the Cards as the real N. L. threat. Brooklyn has great power down through the middle, catcher, pitchers, second and short and in center field. Manager Burt Shotten has a grand pitching staff and a hustling ball club.

Mgr. Billy Southworth is planning to use his right-handed team tonight. He expects Vic Lombardi, the little southpaw, will be on the hill for the Dodgers. This would keep Nanny Fernandez in right, Mike McCormick, center, and Danny Litwhiler, left, with Buck McCormick covering first. The other right handers will be either Sibi Sisti or Dick Culler at short, Connie Ryan second and heavy thumping Bob Elliott on third.

Then, too, catcher Phil Masi and pitcher Bill Voiselle bat from the starboard side of the plate.

Shooting a complete team of right-hand batters against the enemy is one way to overcome the incessant use of southpaws against them. Southworth is lucky he has enough operators of this style on hand. The ill success of the Cards earlier in the season was largely attributed to the use of southpaw pitchers by the opposition.

Southworth's changeable team is reminiscent of the halcyon days of the Braves in 1914 when they had three left-handed batters and three right-handed batters available for outfield use against any style of pitching the opposition adopted. It paid off, too, in winning the flag and later the World Series from the Athletics in four straight games.

The Braves are hot at the present time. In the west, they grabbed seven of the 10 games played. Except for their four-game loss to Cards in St. Louis, the Dodgers are equally torrid but that St. Louis setback was a bitter pill for Shotten and his men.

Rookie Johnny Jorgensen, on third base for Brooklyn, will be the boy to watch tonight. This kid is hitting on all cylinders. Against Pittsburgh last Wednesday, Johnny batted in five runs.

The appearance of Jack Robinson on first base gives the Dodgers another magnet. He is the only Negro in big league baseball and is rapidly acquiring the foot polish necessary around first base.

The two Braves players who will be royally received are Bob Elliott and Buck McCormick. Buck is doing a masterfull job in batting in runs. The old Red and Phillies first sacker appears to have picked up a new lease of baseball life. Elliott, of course, has been the Braves' most consistent hitter and the real spark of the outfit.

Bill Voiselle gets another chance to help justify Southworth's judgment in acquiring him from the Giants when he faces the Dodgers tonight. The big right-hander appears very happy in his new surroundings.

Hughson Will Be Ready for Duty Soon--Cronin

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, said today that Tex Hughson, veteran hurler of the American League champions, is recovering from a sore elbow and will be ready to take his regular turn on the mound in a few days.

Cronin said examinations show there is nothing seriously wrong with his star righthander.

"Tex simply is suffering from a soreness in his elbow to which all pitchers are subject. He is improving and within a few days will be taking his regular turn on the staff. There is absolutely nothing to reports that he will be lost to us for the rest of the season or for any length of time," Cronin said.

Brown Advances To Semi-Finals

LONDON, June 27 (INS)—Young Tom Brown of San Francisco fought his way today into the quarter finals of the men's singles in the All-England Tennis championships at Wimbledon.

Brown, who is seeded No. 3 eliminated Colin long of Australia, 3-6, 13-11, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. A thunderstorm delayed start of the matches for more than two hours.

Bob Falkenburg and Jack Kramer of Los Angeles eliminated France's Robert Abdessalem and Bernard Destremau, 6—1, 7—5, 6—3. Margaret Osborne of San Francisco won as expected without being extended from Mrs. W. H. Durlae of England, 6—3, 6—0, in women's singles.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., advanced with a one-sided win over Mrs. E. E. Pool, 6—1, 6—0. Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies kept England in the competition with a 6—0, 6—1 victory over Mrs. R. H. Chapman.

Joe Louis-Foxworth Exhibition Bout Off

CHICAGO, June 27 (INS)—The exhibition boxing bout between heavyweight champion Joe Louis and Bob Foxworth in Comiskey Park July 8 was off today.

John Roxborough, Louis' manager, announced that the champion would not fight because the guarantee of $5000 was not posted. Louis flew to Chicago from Albuquerque, N. M., yesterday to consult Roxborough about the fight.

Cleveland Bars Boxers With Head Injuries

CLEVELAND, June 27 (INS)—The Cleveland boxing commission moved today to prevent boxers with head injuries from fighting in a Cleveland ring.

Boxing Commissioner Andrew G. Putka said a special meeting of the commission would be held to establish such a rule following the ring death of Jimmy Doyle.

Mayor Thomas A. Burke also urged the commission to take preventive action and he added that thorough medical examinations of contestants must be insured.

The city council also entered the picture with the announcement by Edward L. Pucel, chairman of council's special committee on athletic events, that he would call the committee into session to determine whether legislation was necessary.

Meanwhile, Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, who insists that welterweight champion Ray Robinson's blow to Doyle's head in the eighth round of their title fight was responsible for the injury to the brain, summoned Dr. A. F. Hagedorn, the boxing commission's medical examiner, for a hearing today.

Dr. Hagedorn has maintained that the striking of Doyle's head on the canvas was the principal cause of the boxer's death and not the Robinson punch.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins also was to appear before the coroner.

Eddie Delaney, brother of the ill-fated fighter, was to leave Cleveland today on the train carrying Doyle's body back to Los Angeles for burial.

Pucel to Enroll at Southern California

LOS ANGELES, June 27 (AP)—Ralph Pucci, 185-pound halfback and former all-Ohio selection from Canton's McKinley High school, has announced he will enroll at the University of Southern California this fall. Pucci's family recently moved here.

SUGAR OFFERS AID TO DOYLE FAMILY

CLEVELAND, June 27 (INS)—Ray "Sugar" Robinson, whose first defense of his title resulted in the death of Jimmy Doyle, has indicated his desire to appear in a benefit bout for the Los Angeles fighter's parents.

Paul Doyle, manager of Doyle, and Louis Munalo, a friend of the dead fighter, said the welter champion discussed such a bout with them yesterday. They said the bout would be held in Los Angeles with Robinson donating his purse.

LYNN HOLDS N. E. LEAGUE LEAD ALL ALONE; NASHUA IN SECOND

Sweeping a double-header from Providence last night, the Lynn team regained the New England League lead from Nashua, who went into their clash with Portland in a top-place deadlock. The scores were 14-6 and 7-3.

Playing at home, Nashua pulled out a 10-5 win over Portland by putting together a four-run seventh inning on four bases on balls, an error and Wally Rogers' two-on double.

Tonight's games: Pawtucket at Fall River, Providence at Lynn (2), Portland at Nashua (2), Lawrence at Manchester.

Rhode Island Junior Golfers Tune Up for Hearst Tourney

The best of the Junior golfers in the Pawtucket-Providence area will spend a very busy week-end on the practice tees of their favorite golf courses getting in shape for the first of four qualifying rounds of the Hearst New England Junior Golf championships. The first round is set for the Pawtucket Golf Club Monday morning.

There are three more rounds throughout New England to determine the qualifiers for the Hearst N. E. final which will be played at Woodland starting July 21. The dates are: South Shore, July 2; Merrimack Valley, July 7, and Wachusetts, July 11.

All R. I. golfers are urged to get their entry blank into the mail this afternoon for the Pawtucket round. In the event that your entry blank is not posted in time, special provisions have been made so that golfers may report to the Pawtucket Golf Club on the morning of the tournament and fill out a blank.

Robert Loud, 60 Annie st., Pawtucket, is one of the more prominent of the boys who will compete Monday. Bobbie is only 15 years old and a student at Pawtucket East High but he has already won the school golf title. There are many other young golfers like Loud who will be playing in the Hearst tourney.

This tournament is open to all boys who have not yet reached their 19th birthday. The tournament is absolutely free. This is your chance to break into tournament play.

Clip your coupon today and mail it to the Hearst Junior Golf Editor, Boston Record-American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass.

State Trap Shooters Converge on Ipswich

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Scores of gunners will converge on the grounds of the Ipswich Fish and Game Ass'n, off Rte. 1A on Paradise rd., tomorrow and Sunday, for the Massachusetts State Championship Trap Shoot, events beginning at 10 a. m. each day. Among the titles to be contested will be the All-Around Championship, plus the Distance and Singles shoots, offering both cash awards and trophies to the winners.

Hoping to prove that he is as adept at trap as on the skeet ranges, Dick Shaughnessy, of Egypt and Boston's Mayflower Skeet Club, has entered this shoot, and may upset such defending champs as Walter Peterson, Lynn; Louis Versa, Peabody; and Jack Hughes, Jr., president of the Mass. Amateur Trap Shooting Ass'n.

At the 15th annual Great Eastern Skeet Shoot, Lordship, Ct., last weekend, Shaughnessy missed only one target out of a possible 125, winning the individual championship . . . Jack Hughes, Jr., tells us that the New England Trap Championship is scheduled to be held at the Fall River Rod and Gun area, Westport, Sept. 6-7.

ANGLING ANGLES: Hundreds of youthful anglers, aged 9 to 14, will take part in the second annual "Huck Finn Fishing Contest" at the Charles River Lagoon, Exeter st., this afternoon. Sponsored by the Community Recreation Service and the Boys of Boston groups, boys and girls will try to hook close to 100 calico bass and perch, released in the lagoon recently . . . Prizes will go to the youngsters catching the initial, biggest, and longest fish . . . Sounds like fun!

Salmon are hitting well in Lake Winnipesaukee, according to word from New Hampshire, where Harry Perkins, famed "Mayor of Fisherville," has taken several nice specimens ranging from four to five pounds . . . Frank Berry, another local expert, hooked a 5½-pound salmon — which means plenty of good eating.

Tuna have arrived in the waters off Bailey Island, Me., quite a few weeks ahead of schedule, which helps boost the stock in the impending tourney, set for July 26-29, and the committee has made available more housing facilities, as well as 12 charter boats, bringing the number of craft to 39 . . . A new wharf and float have been completed, designed to handle the big bluefins during the tourney . . . Sportsfishermen are expected to check in for the season shortly, including Henry Strater, of Palm Beach, and Lou Marron and Walter MacDonough, from Brielle, N. J.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Tom Brown of San Francisco upset fourth-seeded Pancho Segura of Ecuador in third round of Wimbledon tennis championship.

Levine-Fox "Go" on WCOP and WLAW Tonight

It will be a smashing right-hand hitter against a powerful left hooker when Billy Fox of Philadelphia opposes Artie Levine (above), Brooklyn, in a ten-round light-heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight.

Fox, after a string of 43 kayo wins, ran into his first reverse six weeks ago when he found Gus Lesnevich, the champ too seasoned. Since then, however, he has added two more knockouts to his list.

This is Levine's first start in the 175-lb. division. Artie is a sharp clouter and is capable of putting over a crusher that has nailed many a foe to the canvas. The Brooklynite will be outweighed by a few pounds but boxing men figure he'll make up for that with superior boxing skill.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WCOP (1150 on your dial) and WLAW (680 on your dial) at 10:00 p. m.

And remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Pitcher With Lame Arm Hurls Perfect Game

KANSAS CITY, June 27 (AP)—Carl Derose, the Kansas City Blues' 220-pound pitcher, today had a perfect no-hit game to his credit in the American Ass'n baseball records—and he did it with an ailing arm.

The big right-hander, whose arm has bothered him practically the entire season, faced only 27 batters in hurling Kansas City to a 5-0 victory over the Minneapolis Millers last night.

The game was a test for DeRose — to see whether he could continue pitching or whether he should return home for an operation on his arm.

It was the first game DeRose had pitched since May 31, when he went eight innings against Milwaukee and was removed to save his arm. After that performance the arm pained so keenly at times he was unable to sleep.

Three weeks ago he was sent to the New York Yankees' trainer for treatment and was advised to take a rest cure. The Yankees are the Blues' parent club.

But last night DeRose had almost flawless control, tossing a total of only 93 pitches.

Previous to his no-hitter, he had a record of only two wins and two losses this season.

It was the first time in 34 years a Kansas City pitcher hurled a no-hitter in American Ass'n play. In 1913 Jim (Hippo) Vaughan, a lefthander who later went to the Chicago Cubs, pitched a no-hit game against Toledo.

In all of Kansas City's America Ass'n history there have only been five no-hitters by Blues, including Derose's performance. In 1906 Ducky Swan blanked Columbus with no hits, in 1908 Chick Brandon pitched a no hitter against Indianapolis and in the same year Smoky Joe Wood stopped Milwaukee without a hit.

LANIER LOSES START

TAMPICO, Mexico, June 27 (AP)—Southpaw Max Lanier, the former Cardinal hurler who recently ended his Mexican holdout campaign, lost his 1947 debut in the Mexican Baseball League, 1 to 0, to Tampico. Pitching for Veracruz, Lanier was touched for six hits.

Pick 2 Pitchers In Hearst Tryout At Nashua, N. H.

By JACK CONWAY

The Record - American - Sunday Advertiser Sandlot baseball tournament which was such a bright success at Holman Stadium, Nashua, N. H., yesterday afternoon continues through New England in search for young baseball players to compete in the N. E. championship game at Fenway Park, July 29.

The next stop for the tourney is tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at Fraser Field, Lynn. The Lynn tryouts will be conducted by Mike Ryba, the manager of the Lynn Red Sox, Claude Davidson, president of the N. E. League, and Bill Barrett, Red Sox scout.

The two players selected from a group of 82 competitors at Nashua were both pitchers, one was Ted Trudel, a slim 17-year-older, who has just completed a fine athletic career for "Buzz" Harvey at Nashua High. Ted, who lives at 23 Hanover st., Nashua, is author of two well-pitched games—one a two-hitter against Worcester Trade, the other a three hitter against Worcester Classical.

The other is Richard Russell, a 6 ft. 175 pounder who lives on King st., Boscawen, N. H. Dick, also 17, had a 4-1 record on the mound for Concord High. He hit .350 while playing the outfield between pitching assignments. He pitched two three-hitters during the past season.

Both boys are right-handers.

These two athletes will be among the 24 others selected throughout New England who will play in the final at Fenway Park as a co-feature with a Red Sox-Cleveland Indians contest. Joe Cronin will manage one sandlot team. Lou Boudreau, Cleveland manager, will manage the other.

A board composed of Davidson, Barrett, Cronin and Boudreau will select the two best in the game and they'll represent New England in the National final which will be played under the lights at the Polo Grounds on Aug. 13.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By the Associated Press

BATTING: Benny Zientara, Reds—Scored three runs, singled twice and doubled, and stole a base to help Ewell Blackwell register his 12th win, 6-3 job over St. Louis.

PITCHING: Ernie Bonham, Pirates—Hurled second straight shutout since Billy Herman gave him chance at starting pitcher, blanking Cubs, 8-0, with six hits.

Linehan, Driscoll Receive More Honors; Make All-Catholic Nine

By MIKE GILLOOLY

A pair of all-scholastic choices on the Boston Evening American team, Jim Linehan, Cathedral High School, and Gene Driscoll, St. Clement's, today were named to first string rating on the All-Catholic nine by the league coaches, in a release from Rev. George M. Dowd, CYO director.

Linehan, a four-year regular behind the bat for Coach Jack McCarthy, was further honored by being named captain of the mythical club.

Captain of football and baseball this past season, Linehan carried a heavy bat in the Cathedral offensive (he hit a nifty .625 as a sophomore) on top of urging along the South End pitchers. His guidance helped considerably in gaining teammate Jack Stevens a place on the All club. Stevens, a southpaw, stands 6 feet, weighs 195 pounds and appears to be one of the most promising of Coach McCarthy's boys.

Stevens shared the pitching choice with Bob Beston, St. Clement's, compiled a 9-2 record in pacing his team to the championship while Bob Heustis gave up only 20 hits in 61 1-3 innings in leading the way to the Division IV title for St. Patrick's of Stoneham.

Driscoll, a choice in this paper's all team, rated as one of the most consistent outfielders of the year. Captain of his team, Driscoll found Joe Pallotta, Malden Catholic, and Frank Cronin, Sacred Heart of Newton, as his mates in the outer gardens.

In the ballotting, first base became the hot corner of the infield as Roger Ready, Keith Academy, edged out Frank Young of St. Mary's of Waltham for the first string post. Ready was one of two holdovers from the championship nine of last year. This season, he batted .466. He stands 6.5; weighs 210 pounds; is a four-year regular.

Coach Bob McCabe of St. John's of Danvers found his second baseman, Armand "Stitch" Tardiff getting the nod at the keystone sack. Coach McCabe declared that St. John's "record of 14-2 was mostly because of Tardiff. He can't be beaten on a double play pivot."

Malden Catholic's John O'Donnell, already signed to a pro contract and assigned to a Chicago Cubs farm, captured the shortstop berth.

Third base was taken over by Jim Devaney of St. Patrick's of Watertown and his All selection was almost automatic. Devaney was captain of the team and a clever pitcher as well as third baseman.

Swimming Classes Open Next Monday

Joe Baldwin and Johnnie Temple, two of New England's ace swimming instructors, will inaugurate the 1947 Hearst "Learn to Swim" campaign next Monday morning.

Baldwin, a Red Cross instructor, will hold swimming classes beginning Monday and ending on July 12 at the Beachmont Yacht Club, Revere. Temple, a Humane Society instructor, will conduct his instructions at the State Hospital pool, Canton, on the same date.

Beginners' classes will be held from 10 to noon in the morning. In the afternoon, from 2-4, life savings classes will be conducted.

RED SOX--NATS PLAY BY PLAY

By HUCK FINNEGAN

WASHINGTON, June 27—It's easy to percieve why Clark Griffith is anxious to schedule so many night games. There were less than 5000 in the park today when the Red Sox and Senators met in the second game of the series. Last night 18,000 saw the first game.

'Twas ever thus in Washington. Today's weather was ideal for baseball, especially from a spectator's viewpoint. They sat in shirtsleeves rooting for the home team to preserve their clean record against the Sox.

Senators have taken all four games from the Sox played here this season and sent southpaw Mickey Haefner after the fifth today.

Haefner took two of three decisions from the Sox last year and climaxed it by hitting Ted Williams on the elbow in an "All-Star" game in Boston while the Sox were trying to keep primed for the World Series. Haefner today was seeking his third victory of the season.

Because Haefner is a lefty, Cronin had the left-handed hitting Moses sit it out, sent DiMaggio back to center and Mele to right. Tebbetts was still unable to catch, however, and Roy Partee was Dorish's battery mate.

Dorish has a 5-4 record this year. Last Sunday he whipped the Cleveland Indians in Boston, though he needed help in the ninth from Earl Johnson.

FIRST INNING

RED SOX—Gutieridge flied to Spence. Pesky singled. Williams flied to Grace. Mele popped to Priddy. NO RUNS.

SENATORS—Dorish threw out Yost. Doerr tossed out Lewis. Vernon doubled. Spence doubled, scoring Vernon. Grace walked. Priddy fanned. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING

RED SOX—Christman threw out Doerr. Haefner threw out DiMaggio. Christman threw out Jones. NO RUNS.

SENATORS—Partee threw out Evans. Pesky threw out Christman and Haefner. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

RED SOX—Partee singled. Dorish sacrificed. Haefner to Priddy. Gutteridge popped to Yost. Pesky singled, but Partee overran third and was out. Priddy to Yost to Evans. NO RUNS.

SENATORS—Yost singled, and took second when Williams fumbled. Lewis singled, Vernon forced Lewis, Doerr to Pesky, Yost scoring. Spence doubled. Grace walked. Priddy hit into a double play, Pesky to Doerr to Jones. ONE RUN.

Dobson Complains Of Sore Arm

By HERB FINNEGAN

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27—Joe Dobson complained of a sore arm today, making the third of the Sox four starting pitchers of '46 (Harris, Hughson the others), to do so.

While the Sox were preparing for the Senators game today, Dobson was ministered to by Win Green also the whirlpool bath in the Washington clubhouse.

"I hurt my shoulder pitching to Yost in the fifth inning of last night's game," said Dobson.

Grace started the inning with a single and Priddy sacrificed. Christman was walked intentionally, hoping to have Newsom hit into a DP, but Newsom singled. Then Dobson walked Yost and Lewis before Johnson took over.

Dobson is known as a "rubber arm." He's said he's had shoulder trouble before, but nobody remembers when. He has an 8-3 record this season, though he's completed only five of 14 starts. He was figured to set the pace for the Sox pitchers while Harris and Hughson were sidelined. He was scheduled to pitch Monday night's game against the Yanks in Boston.

R. I. Cop Testifies Confession Forced

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 27 (AP)—The State began cross-examination today of former Patrolman George F. Harris, charged in superior court with conspiracy with the underworld.

Harris testified yesterday in the absence of the jury that he had signed a purported confession only because the police mistreated and tormented him during 35 sleepless hours. The jury has been out of the courtroom while Judge Philip C. Joslin hears evidence about the "confession" to determine its admissibility.

The witness reiterated today that when he was brought to the police station he insisted he had to see a doctor to get an abscess treated. He said Police Chief James A. Murray commented, "I think he's sick in the head."

Senate Passes Succession Bill

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The Senate today passed, 50 to 35, legislation suggested by President Truman to place the Speaker if the House next in line for the presidency in the absence of a vice-president.

Mass. Senate Kills Race Betting Bill

Without debate and by voice vote the Massachusetts Senate voted today to kill a bill which would increase the State's share of the take on horse and dog race betting.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Logan Dickie, of Reading, called for an increase of 1 per cent on dog race betting and one-half of 1 per cent on horse betting, passed in the House this morning.

GOLF PRO DEAD

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 27 (AP)—George Christ, 52, golf professional at the country Club of Rochester, died today after a two-year illness.
